

ONE BAD THING ABOUT BEING AN EXPERT AT FIGHTING DEPRESSIONS IS THAT THERE'S PRACTICALLY NO FUTURE TO IT. EVERY TIME YOU POISON A DEPRESSION IT THROWS YOU OUT OF A JOB. OH, WELL. WHY WORRY ABOUT SOMETHING A MONTH OR TWO MONTHS AWAY?

THEY'RE SUCH DELIGHTFUL PEOPLE.

SCOTLAND FOR A VISIT AN' WHEN HE HAULS OUT A TWENTY-FIVE OF SOMETHIN' YA HAVEN'T SEEN FOR YEARS, AN' THE KID'S FATHER GETS TOOK ON.

LOOK, OLIVE, THEY SENT THE WHOLE ARMY AFTER ME. THAT'S A COMPLIMENT.

THAT'S TOUGH. NOW I GOT AN EXCUSE FOR NOT WORKING.

WORK IT ON A FORMULA. FOR INSTANCE, I ONCE WANTED TO FIND THE WEIGHT OF A PIG. SO I PUT HIM ON A SEESAW WITH A ROCK ON THE OTHER END, AND I BALANCED HIM TILL THEY HAD TO DO MY GUESS. THE WEIGHT OF THE ROCK, AND PRESTO!

Announces Plans for Departure as Washington Looks to Mellon to Iron Out Problems in France Over Moratorium Plan.

ENCOURAGED BY TALK WITH CLAUDEL

Secretary So States After Meeting French Ambassador—Going on Hoover's Advice to Confer With Leaders of Principal Powers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Secretary Stimson said late today that he was encouraged on the negotiations for a repatriation and was planning to see the result of two conversations he had today with Ambassador Claudel of France. The statement was made by the secretary at a special conference with newspaper men, called to explain the purposes of his European tour. He said he was going on the advice of President Hoover. He will sail Saturday.

Engagements have been made for him to confer with European leaders, including, he said, the Foreign Ministers of Italy, France, Germany and Great Britain. He will see the President of France.

He will arrive at Naples about July 2 and spend slightly less than a week in Italy, arriving in Paris July 12 or 13. He will be in London about July 27.

The secretary announced some time ago that he intended to visit Europe this summer and had made reservations on several ships, but thus far had been unable to fix the date of his departure. He plans to travel on the liner Conte Grande to Naples.

The continued acuteness of the European economic situation, particularly that in Germany, which particularly to President Hoover's moratorium action, had necessitated his moratorium of previous reservations.

The secretary said the announcement "merely indicates that I am carrying out my original plan and that nothing has occurred of a nature to prevent that."

His action awaited. Washington looked today to Secretary Mellon for a contribution toward solution of the delicate situation that has arisen over the moratorium proposal.

Official acceptance of the principle had been received from all the principal powers involved, with the biggest rough spot in the immediate road being France's counter proposition.

Secretary Mellon has been "vaunting" in England. Facts and figures obtained in a series of conferences with officials there played a considerable part in President Hoover's decision to offer to suspend war debt and reparations payments for a year. And now Mellon, through in England, is expected to "vaunt" to France. The dramatic circles here felt positive that the secretary of the United States Treasury would discuss the French attitude with the proper officials. There were expressions of hope that possible objections would be met without involving the United States in European politics. Unconditional Payments Involved. The immediate difficulty, more than anything else, appeared to be the desire on the part of France to retain the unconditional reparations payments for actual war damage. The French note was held secret today, but no one denied that unconditional reparations were involved.

MELLON IN PARIS FOR AGREEMENT ON HOOVER PLAN

Secretary Confers With Edge Immediately on Arrival; Meets French Leaders Tomorrow.

CHAMBER PREPARES TO DEBATE PROPOSAL

Franco-German Parley Likely Soon in French Capital Similar to That Held at Chequers.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 25.—Andrew W. Mellon, American Secretary of the Treasury, arrived in Paris this afternoon from London to begin negotiations for the purpose of arriving at an agreement with France on President Hoover's war debt moratorium proposal. The Secretary went into conference with Ambassador Edge at the United States Embassy as soon as he got there from the railroad station.

Mellon told newspaper men he came to Europe on a private trip and that while in London was instructed "to do what I have done." He added he was in Paris for "the same reason and I do not know how long I shall remain." He was accompanied by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David K. E. Bruce. Tomorrow the Secretary will meet members of the French Cabinet at a luncheon given by Premier Laval.

The United States Embassy will be the scene of a Franco-American parley. His departure for the French Riviera will be postponed if circumstances require. This, presumably, depends on the reaction at Washington to the French reply to Mr. Hoover's debt holiday proposal.

France replied yesterday to President Hoover, virtually addressing an appeal to the United States for a compromise in the interests of perfect accord. The suggestion, the Associated Press is informed, deals with the issue of international reparations payments from Germany, in which France receives about $100,000,000 annually.

Instead of postponing these payments in line with the Hoover suggestion, that all intergovernmental debts be "id in abeyance for a year"—France wants them made usual to the Bank for International Settlements. Then, under the French counter-plan, they would be made available to Germany and to other needy nations in the form of loans. This arrangement would keep intact the Young war debt payment plan, which the French regard as a citadel of protection.

French Parties Satisfied. The substance of the French Government's note, insisting that the Young plan be strictly observed through the continuance of Germany's unconditional payments, generally gives satisfaction to all parties in France, and the consensus in the lobbies is that Premier Laval will be upheld in debate on the subject in the Chamber of Deputies.

The impression among Le Matin and other well-informed papers, is that President Hoover will not abruptly reject the French suggestions, but will take time to review them.

The reply text, the Premier said, will not be made public until tomorrow, when the chamber must approve whatever action the Cabinet takes.

Franco-German Parley. Franco-German conversations, similar to the recent discussions at Chequers between Prime Minister MacDonald and German officials, probably will take place in the next few weeks.

Led by Deputies Paul-Boncour and Leon Blum, the Socialist group of the Chamber decided today to adopt a favorable attitude toward such conversations. The Socialists also agreed to advance in the Chamber a resolution to consider the moratorium, finance and general disarmament inseparable.

Chancellor Brüning's invitation for an informal Franco-German conference was greeted enthusiastically by Left parties, but has engendered some doubt elsewhere.

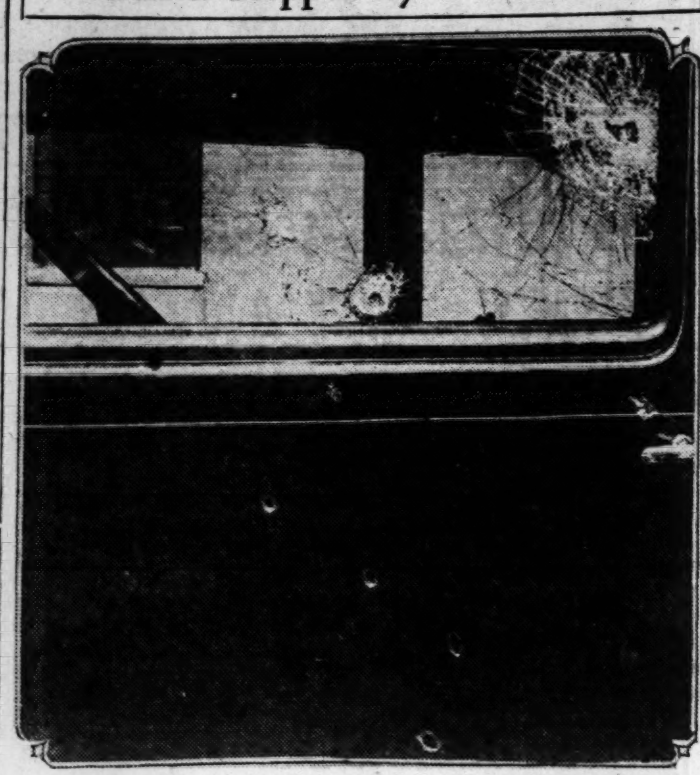

Radical Leader's View. President Hoover's proposal must be the starting point of a new policy toward Germany, Eduard Deladier, president of the Radical party, largest group in the Chamber of Deputies, told the party's executive committee last night.

The international conversations which will result from the American proposal, he said, must begin with direct conversations between France and Germany, and the French answer to the United States should depend on the result of those conversations.

Former Premier Herriot, who also spoke, said he was sure that, if a way could be found to safeguard payments of the unconditional reparations annuities, France would not disappoint the rest of the nations in their appeal for international solidarity.

The committee adopted a resolution expressing the hope that President Hoover's offer would be translated into a positive plan for Franco-German co-operation which would permit settlement of the Italy's Acceptance Unconditional; Officials at Work on Details.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, June 25.—Active preparations for the unconditional execution of President Hoover's moratorium proposal began here today. Without waiting for a general declaration that the plans had become effective, Italy began taking up many of the details necessary for the acceptance of suspension of war debts and reparations payments July 1.

Premier Mussolini, after a conference yesterday with Foreign Minister Grandi and Finance Minister Mosconi, charged them and the Governor of the Bank of Italy with this work. These officials met this morning at Grandi's office.

The Premier's message yesterday constituted formal acceptance of President Hoover's plan without conditions. The observations, which the message said might be made would refer only to possible suggestions for getting the best results for facilitating the technical work.

So far as the moratorium is concerned, however, Italian participation will be complete.

Paris Attitude on a "French Chequers" Cheers Berlin.

BERLIN, June 25.—Advices from Paris indicating that Chancellor Brüning's suggestion of a "French Chequers" is evoking a friendly echo in the French press, and the subject of a conversation between French and German officials, have added to German hopes for a solution of the reparations situation.

The Democratic press is even taking the possibility of the imminent arrival of an invitation from Paris with the chance that a Franco-German parley might take place before the coming visit of Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson to Berlin, July 17.

Officially, however, the situation stands where it was when Chancellor Brüning made his dramatic radio appeal for Franco-German reconciliation and the "moral conquest" of war-bred mistrust.

"sympathetic" but have made no official response.

The State Department, replying to a diplomatic query by Belgium, said that nation was not expected to be included among Germany's "major" creditors and as such would be expected to act on the proposal.

The general optimism here that an agreement will be reached soon so as to improve Germany's economic condition was expressed by Senator Watson, Republican Senate leader, after a talk with the President. He said: "It looks as though, after some details have been worked out, that success will attend the effort."

After receiving the French answer, Secretary Stimson also said "I am very optimistic," adding "it would be a crime if anything happened."

Nevertheless, the general opinion was that the French proposal would be unacceptable unless it could be so framed as not to conflict with the President's offer.

Stimson said yesterday the "broad" of the President's statement will "not be departed from."

Ambassador de Martino of Italy, acting on instructions of Foreign Minister Grandi, assured Secretary Stimson today that no political considerations were contemplated in Italy's acceptance of the Hoover plan.

"Italy's position of cordial acceptance has been laid before the American Government and that the American acceptance is complete to the last comma," the Ambassador said after his talk with the Secretary.

Senator Harrison of Mississippi called on the President to discuss the war debt-reparations situation but after his conference declined to comment, saying his call had been entirely to "keep myself informed."

He added the prospects for the Hoover plan were "still bright." He came out of the President's office arm in arm with James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Republican National Committee.

GROGER WOUNDED IN FOOT WHEN HIS AUTO IS SHOT UP

Mario (Mike) Oldani Saved When Lowered Shatter-proof Window Glass Deflects 11 Other Bullets.

A lowered automobile window glass thwarted the attempt of gangsters last night to kill Mario Oldani, 35-year-old grocer, sugar dealer and community leader on "The Hill" Italian quarter in the southwestern section of the city. Twelve .45-caliber bullets were fired either from a submachine gun or automatics into Oldani's automobile as he drove east on Lucas avenue between Twentieth and Nineteenth streets at 11:05 o'clock.

Eleven of them were stopped or deflected by the lowered shatter-proof window glass in the door on the drivers' side, six of them being imbedded in the glass but not penetrating entirely. One slipped through a cowl ventilator and struck Oldani in the foot.

At the time of the shooting Oldani was on his way to Commission Row to buy supplies for his grocery and meat market at 5224 Columbia avenue, after a visit to the saloon at 218 North Cardinal avenue operated by his brother, Henry, against whom the Government has filed income tax liens totaling $325,000.

Can't Explain Attack. Mario, known to his friends as "Mike," told police that he could not explain the attack. He had gone to his brother's saloon an hour or so earlier, he said, but no one was there except "Cockey," the bartender.

About 10:30 Mario went down to the corner and bought a couple of sandwiches which he and "Cockey" ate. After a few minutes Mario decided he could not wait for Henry any longer and left the saloon in his La Salle coupe. He drove north to Washington boulevard, met to Lefingwell, north again to Lucas and then eastward toward the downtown district.

"I didn't notice anyone following me," he told policemen. "But all of a sudden an automobile—it looked like a Ford—pulled up beside me and someone began firing from it."

Not in Liquor Business. "I wasn't running very fast. I slipped the gear shift lever into neutral and dropped down on the floor. I don't know how many shots were fired, but the car machine finally speeded up and turned north in Nineteenth street."

"My car rolled up to the curb by itself. I found I had been hit in the foot but that was all. Why did they shoot me? Your guess is as good as mine. I haven't any enemies that I know about."

Recalling that a Negro was once arrested with a five-gallon can of alcohol as he left Oldani's store, the police suggested that perhaps the root of the trouble underlying the attack might be found in the liquor business.

"No, I'm not monkeying with that business," Oldani replied. "Arrested Only Once."

"Good weather!" It was terrible. Maybe we had a better three hours of good weather. It rained on us practically all night, but, boy, we got through."

Champagne and Bouquets. Champagne was placed before them and bouquets with a burst into their arms. They did not seem to care for the former, and were embarrassed at the latter. All either could say—and that had to be translated—was: "Where can we wash?"

While the throng surged around the restaurant and peered into the windows, the flyers sat down to their first meal since leaving America. They were almost too agitated to eat and were handicapped by an incessant flow of questions.

Noticing their predicament, Director Wronsky of Lufthansa put the food on their plates and insisted they begin. All this time the folks outside were shouting: "Donnerwetter! Let the poor fellows eat."

Later Gatty was tired from his rigorous trip that he fell asleep in a bathtub. Attendants at the Tempelhof Aldrome put him to bed.

COMPLAINT AGAINST R.C.A. DISMISSED BY COMMISSION

Unfair Methods of Competition in Sale of Vacuum Tubes Was Alleged.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 25.—The Federal Trade Commission today dismissed a complaint charging the Radio Corporation of America with unfair methods of competition in the sale of vacuum tubes.

The action followed disposition in the Federal courts of a case involving the same subject matter. After the lower court had found the practices were in violation of law, the United States Supreme Court refused to grant a review.

The Radio Commission yesterday by a 3 to 2 vote, decided to grant the 1409 licenses of the R. C. A.'s four subsidiaries, the majority holding the court's opinion could not be interpreted as holding R. C. A. monopolized radio communication.

Oswald F. Schuette, executive secretary of the Radio Protective Association asked the Radio Commission today to designate a member or special examiner to hold hearings "concerning the violations of the anti-monopoly laws for which the Attorney-General has brought suit for the dissolution of the Radio Trust."

"We ask you to do this solely to determine whether it is in the public interest, convenience and necessity to grant further licenses to these offenders during the pendency of these prosecutions," he said.

5-YEAR TERMS AND FINES FOR FORMER NARCOTIC AGENTS

Two Were Convicted of Offering Bribe in Drug Case to Another

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Richard Nash and Philip A. de Stefano, former Federal narcotic agents convicted of offering a bribe to another agent, today were sentenced to five years in Atlantic penitentiary and to pay fines of $13,000 each.

The specific charge against the men is that they offered $1000 to Arnold C. Lachenauer, another agent, if he would agree not to identify a drug peddler.

folk immediately put in a call for him at Krefeld.

The din of whistles and bells immediately resulted in a scene unprecedented in this quiet Catskill Mountain town. The population, to a man, opened store and home doors and jumped into the middle of the main street, each person trying to tell the other the news at the same instant.

The hours of waiting while the middle-aged photographer, who came from Germany to open a shop here, and his Danish pilot, Young Holm, flew over the Atlantic, brought crosses of anxiety to faces and quieted the small crowds gathered in stores and on street corners.

As the time dragged on through the morning and the last estimated moment at which they could have stayed in the air with their gasoline supply passed, the anxiety increased to deep concern.

The telephone of George Klemm, who had been commissioned by the town to keep in contact with news of the flyer, rang.

They are reported to have landed at Krefeld, Germany, unhurt, and with ship undamaged," Klemm was told. Then the celebration began.

La Follette and Brookhart for Extra Session on Debt Plan

Both Favor Proposal—Hiram Johnson Opposes It—Pittman for Two-Year Holiday—Aid Farmers First, Says Romjue.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 25.—Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, wired the President today that he agreed with the proposal to postpone for a year all intergovernmental debts, but believed the subject of "too much importance to be decided by Congress by informal conferences or telegrams to members."

He proposed that Congress be summoned in special session.

Declaring first results of announcement of a proposed moratorium was to "renew the gigantic stock boom," he said, "such a result is unsound and means future disaster."

He said that before he would vote "for any proposal that will renew the stock gambling orgy" he would "insist on some legislation perhaps similar to the speculative sales tax offered by Senator Glass as an amendment to the tariff act."

La Follette Gives Assurance of Support of Plan.

By the Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., June 25.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin today informed President Hoover he would support the proposed one-year war debt moratorium. He expressed the opinion the matter should be dealt with at a special session of Congress, but gave assurance he would favor legislation effecting the plan.

He did not consider the proposal as an entering wedge for debt cancellation, adding, "I shall continue to oppose such cancellation unless it shall be accompanied by definite agreements for revision downward of reparations and drastic reduction in naval armament and genuine land and naval armament reduction to relieve taxpayers of the largest single item in their crushing burden in all countries."

Hiram Johnson and Ex-Senator Reed Oppose Plan.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—President Hoover's proposed moratorium on international debts is viewed by Senator Hiram Johnson, (Rep.) California, as a measure that would lead to cancellation and designed to protect bankers' private loans to Germany.

"Obviously," the Senator commented, in a statement last night, "the moratorium is to aid Germany, but the beneficiaries who profit most will be the American financiers with more than a billion dollars (in investments in Germany) at stake."

"Anyone with the slightest knowledge of the propaganda of the last year for the cancellation of foreign debts knows this moratorium means cancellation. . . . let Congress meet and turn on the light."

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, June 25.—Former United States Senator James A. Reed has expressed opposition to President Hoover's proposal of a one-year moratorium on foreign war debt. Reed yesterday asserted the President's plan, in his opinion, is the first step toward attempted ultimate cancellation of foreign indebtedness to the United States.

Help U. S. Farmers' First, Congressman Tells Hoover.

By the Associated Press.

MACON, Mo., June 25.—Replying to a telegram from President Hoover on his moratorium proposal, Congressman M. A. Romjue (Dem.), First District, replied as follows: "If I deem it the first duty of our Government to consider and care for the interests and welfare of the American people, I am not in favor of canceling any debts due America by foreign Governments, and am opposed to any plan which will eventually lead to that end."

"American farmers are losing their farms and homes every day by reason of drainage bonds and farm loans. Unless the payment of their loans and interest thereon can be postponed for a year in order to give them a chance to save their own homes, I am opposed to postponing for any foreign country the payment of their obligations to the United States."

We have in America a large number of people in both city and country who are unemployed and have difficulty in meeting the taxes and loans against them. Until some relief or assistance is given them I am not in favor of bestowing charity on Europe."

Pittman Says Moratorium Should Last Two Years.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, June 25.—Senator Pittman (Dem.) of Nevada, today described President Hoover's moratorium proposal as a step toward recovery from world wide depression, but said it should extend for two years instead of one and that the international government debts of all kinds should be included.

He said any proposal which seeks solution of only the gold problem would be "only a half solution" and urged that the President call an international conference to relieve the silver crisis concurrently with the adjustment of the gold situation."

CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Golf and Polo Player Freed of Swiss Charge.

By the Associated Press.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., June 25.—A man who has been involved with the law for almost a year in connection with a $35,000 race horse swindle yesterday convinced a jury here that he is Ed Haviland Baldwin, New York golfer and polo player, and on the ground of mistaken identity he was acquitted of a charge of grand larceny.

Fred Walker, wealthy Boston lumber dealer, was the victim of the swindle while visiting here in February, 1929. Last July, the defendant Baldwin was arrested in New York and identified there by Walker as the man who had defrauded him under the name of James Fowler. Later he was brought here and put in jail under the name of Edward Steele.

He testified he had given the name of Steele to avoid publicity. Counsel for Baldwin introduced hotel bills, polo programs and golf writups from Del Monte, Cal., to show he was in sports there at the time it was charged he swindled Walker here.

England, France and U. S. Operate in Loan to Bolster Gold Reserve.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 25.—It was officially announced this evening that the Reichsbank had concluded arrangements for a loan of $100,000,000 with the Federal Reserve Bank, the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the Bank of International Settlements.

Each of the four banks is to provide one-fourth of the total amount to the Bank for International Settlements for use of the Reichsbank.

The reason why such credit is needed is that, while the monetary fight of capital has been reversed and gold is flowing in instead of out, the process is not likely to be rapid enough to equalize before June 30 the loss of approximately a billion marks of the Reichsbank's reserves.

It was emphasized, however, that this temporary assistance over technical difficulty does not depend on the Hoover war debt plan, which the finances of the Reichsbank are gravely affected by the payment of today's Reichsbank's gold, which covered the week ended last Saturday—in other words, up to the point when President Hoover stepped in.

The Reichsbank's gold cover bank note circulation Saturday stood at 40.4 per cent, which was 0.4 per cent above the minimum prescribed by law.

How serious this was is evidenced by the fact that only a month ago the gold reserve was 68.4 per cent. The Reichsbank is confident that in a month it will be back at least to about 68 per cent coverage, thanks to the Hoover proposal.

Federal Reserve Bank Participation About $25,000,000.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The Federal Reserve Bank of New York today announced that, in association with other Federal Reserve banks and with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board, it had agreed to purchase from the German Reichsbank up to a total of about the equivalent of $25,000,000 of prime commercial bills.

The agreement was made in connection with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board, it was said, to purchase from the German Reichsbank up to a total of about the equivalent of $25,000,000 of prime commercial bills.

BOY DIES AFTER BEATING AT STATE REFORM SCHOOL

Two Guards Suspended by Director of Penal Institutions; Sent by Governor to Make Inquiry.

NO MORE WHIPPING, CAULFIELD ORDERS

Body of 17-Year-Old Boonville Prisoner, Found by Doctor Called to Treat Another Inmate.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 25.—Gov. Caulfield today ordered an inquiry by the State Board of Penal Institutions into the death of Cecil Lafferty, 17-year-old inmate of the boys' reformatory at Boonville, who died yesterday afternoon immediately after a severe beating administered by two reformatory guards.

Delph Simons, director of penal institutions, today suspended the two guards, W. A. Heying and Carl R. Leach, who admitted beating Lafferty with a strap for allegedly having complained of illness, while he was being taken in a car to the reformatory hospital from the field where the beating was administered. He died about 8 o'clock.

Gov. Caulfield said he had not heard that inmates of the reformatory were beaten by guards as a part of the disciplinary measures, and said it would be abolished immediately.

"There will be no more beating of reformers by inmates as long as I am Governor," he said, "and it would have been stopped heretofore if I had known it."

Inquest Will Be Held. An inquest will be held probably today. County officers of Cooper County were not notified for reformatory officials of Lafferty's death until last night, and the Coroner learned of it through another physician who had been called to the reformatory to attend an inmate who was ill and had seen the body on a table packed in the members of the penal board were not notified of the death until last night when Acting Superintendent Otto White drove here to confer with board members.

Director Simons said the delay in notifying the proper officials was due to the absence of Superintendent Theodore Ziske, who was away on his vacation, and the uncertainty of other reformatory officials as to what should be done.

Lafferty, whose home is in Norwood, Wis., was received at the reformatory last Saturday, after a revocation of a former merit parole. He originally was committed to the reformatory in October, 1929, and had been released in December, 1930.

Director Simons said Lafferty had not received the medical examination always given boys committed to the reformatory until noon yesterday. The physician's report did not indicate he was ill, Simons said.

Heying and Leach, when questioned by Simons, said Lafferty was striking his task yesterday afternoon in the reformatory rhubarb field here he was working with a number of other inmates. The field is about a quarter mile from the reformatory. Simons said they expressed the "hell" Lafferty was striking when he had fallen down once while at work, and then asked to be permitted to go down the road and get a drink of water.

Given About 20 Blows. Simons said Heying and Leach both admitted having beaten Lafferty with a strap. They said each of them had given Lafferty about 10 blows with the strap. Simons said. The leather strap used for whipping reformatory boys is about two inches wide and about three feet long and has a handle at one end.

When Lafferty was beaten, for not doing his task, he was taken to the door of a small storage cellar a short distance from where he had been working and out of the sight of the other inmates, Simons said. Soon after he was brought back to work Lafferty collapsed. The guards told Simons they immediately sent for an automobile to take Lafferty to the reformatory hospital. He was dead when the automobile reached the hospital. Heying has been a guard at the reformatory for about two years and Leach had been a guard for a year and one month. Director Simons, who went to Boonville late last night to make a preliminary investigation, returned this morning to make a report to Gov. Caulfield, then went back to Boonville to continue the inquiry.

Two Guards Suspended by Director of Penal Institutions; Sent by Governor to Make Inquiry.

NO MORE WHIPPING, CAULFIELD ORDERS

Body of 17-Year-Old Booneville Prisoner, Found by Doctor Called to Treat Another Inmate.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent. JEFFERSON CITY, June 25.—Gov. Caulfield today ordered a special inquiry by the State Board of Prison Institutions into the death of Cecil Lafferty, 17-year-old inmate of the boys' reformatory at Booneville, who died yesterday afternoon after being beaten by two guards.

Delph Simons, director of penal institutions, today suspended the two guards, W. A. Heying and Carroll R. Leach, who admitted beating Lafferty with a strap for alleged shirking. Lafferty, who was being taken to the reformatory hospital from the field where the beating was administered. He died about 6 o'clock.

Gov. Caulfield said he had not been told that inmates of the reformatory were beaten by guards as a part of the disciplinary measures, and said it would be abolished immediately.

Members of the penal institution notified of the death until last night when Acting Superintendent Otto White drove here to confer with board members.

Director Simons said the delay in notifying the proper officials was explained by White as due to the absence of Superintendent Theodore Ziske, who was away on his vacation, and the uncertainty of other reformatory officials as to what should be done.

Lafferty, whose home is in Norwood, Wright County, was received at the reformatory last Saturday, under a revocation of a former parole. He originally was committed to the reformatory in October, 1929, and had been released in December, 1930.

Director Simons said Lafferty had not received the medical examination always given boys committed to the reformatory until noon yesterday. The physician's report did not indicate he was ill, Simons said.

Heying and Leach, when questioned by Simons, said Lafferty was beating his task yesterday afternoon in the reformatory rhubarb field here he was working with a number of other inmates. He was dead when the ambulance reached the hospital. Heying has been a guard at the reformatory for about two years and Leach for about a year and a month.

Director Simons, who went to Booneville last night to make a preliminary investigation, returned this morning to make a report to Gov. Caulfield, then went back to Booneville to continue the inquiry.

In March, 1928, the Penal Board discharged one guard and reprimanded two others after two young reformatory inmates had been severely whipped, then denied medical attention and ordered back to work.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT PRINCIPALS

MISS EDITH COCKLEY

MISS EDITH COCKLEY

Miss Edith Cockley, 49-year-old plaintiff in a breach of promise suit against Charles B. Gerhart, 69, wealthy real estate dealer, was awarded $30,000 by the unanimous verdict of a jury in Circuit Judge Norton's court today. The jury deliberated 40 minutes and took two ballots. On the first, proposed awards ranged from $20,000 to $75,000.

It was the second trial of the case, a jury having failed to agree after the first hearing of testimony. Miss Cockley, who sued for $100,000, alleged that Gerhart, three times married, proposed marriage Nov. 1, 1926, but that on the marriage day, notified her he had a business engagement and later that he had changed his mind about another venture in matrimony.

Alleging that she met Gerhart while working in her father's popcorn and peanut stand at Grand and Lindell boulevard, where the Melbourne Hotel now is located, Miss Cockley said Gerhart asked her to marry him in 1917. She declined on that occasion, she said, but accepted in 1926.

Gerhart emphatically denied he ever asked Miss Cockley to be his wife. He said he never had taken her to places of amusement but admitted she had been entertained at his home, 4484 Forest Park boulevard, on several occasions, on two of which times, however, she came uninvited, he claimed.

Gerhart's daughter, Mrs. G. Erwin Homer, and her husband, took the stand to deny that Gerhart at Thanksgiving dinner in 1926, when Miss Cockley was a guest in his home, announced his engagement to her, as she testified.

Both witnesses said nothing was mentioned about marriage and no toasts were drunk to any prospective bride couple, as was claimed. Homer said he never heard of the woman's claim until he read about it in newspapers after her suit.

It was filed against Gerhart. Mrs. Homer made a similar statement and added, in answer to a question: "I knew nothing about their relations except what has been aired in this court."

Thomas J. Rowe, who was Gerhart's counsel at a former trial, when the jury disagreed, was also present at the Thanksgiving dinner. He declared he heard no engagement announced. He said that because of his age he retired from the case. "I will be 80 years old if I live until Friday, which I hope to do by the help of God," he informed the court.

Intends to Push on. I suppose my not realizing the gas tank was getting low, shows I was pretty tired after all. However, I expect we will be up to form again tomorrow and ready for Moscow and beyond. I hope to make Moscow in mid-afternoon, if weather prospects are half way decent, to push on through the night for Irkutsk.

I would like to break these rights up if possible. In conclusion, I just want to say that the ship and the motor are sweet as can be and I see no reason—barring the unexpected—why they should not carry us right round with nothing more arduous than a regular change of oil.

Oh, and by the way, some remarks have been made about the infrequency with which we utilized our radio. I am sorry if any one was disappointed, but you see I figured that radio is along for emergencies, and I don't like to interrupt our navigation work answering calls unless necessary.

However, you may rest assured that if there is any need for it we will use the wireless fast enough, so I hope our long silence won't discourage listeners in too much.

HOUSE BOY FOUND GUILTY OF KILLING BROOKLYN DOCTOR

Filipino Convicted of First Degree Murder Which Carries Death Penalty.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 25.—George Deely, 25 years old, former Filipino house boy of Dr. George E. Deely, Brooklyn physician, was convicted of first degree murder for the physician's death by a jury in County Court today. The verdict, which automatically carries the death penalty was returned in 7 minutes.

Deely was killed in his apartment in Brooklyn June 2. Damir was arrested in Philadelphia and charged with the murder. The State alleged that the Filipino after he had been discharged, returned to the physician's apartment and robbed him while he slept of $45, and was discovered by Dr. Deely. He later returned and killed the physician. He pleaded that he was drunk.

His trial lasted three days.

WIFE IN CALIFORNIA HOME HEARS GATTY IN BERLIN BY RADIO

Calls Children and Neighbors When She Gets Word Flyers Have Landed.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 25.—Mrs. Harold Gatty sat in the living room of the Gattys' modest little Verdugo Hills home here yesterday and heard the voice of her husband by radio following his landing with Wiley Post in Berlin.

"They've landed," she shouted as the cheers from Berlin reached her ears.

She dashed to the door and called her three children, Alan, 5 years old, Ronald, 2, and Lindsay, 3.

"Come and hear your father. He's in Berlin," she exclaimed. Tears of joy were in her eyes and she jumped up and down when the announcer said Gatty would have a few words to say. She dashed to the door and cried to the neighbors to come and listen.

Several times she attempted to telephone to him, but gave it up, returning to the radio.

"We're glad we are here," Gatty said over the air. "We will leave tomorrow."

"That's just like him," Mrs. Gatty said, "he always was bashful and never would talk like this grand thing."

She asked neighbors who crowded into the small living room.

RECEIVER SOUGHT FOR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATER CHAIN

Two Minority Stockholders Also Ask for Accounting by St. Louis Amusement Co. Directors.

A suit for appointment of a receiver for the St. Louis Amusement Co., and an accounting of the company's affairs from its directors, was filed today by Jack and Katie Shea, brother and sister. Shea is manager of the Montgomery Theater, Fifteenth and Montgomery streets. He holds 30 shares, and his sister 55, of Class A stock of the St. Louis Amusement Co. The company controls 20 neighborhood theaters, of which the Montgomery is not one.

The suit does not allege that the St. Louis Amusement Co. is insolvent. It charges that Warner Bros., a nationwide moving picture theater organization, which holds the majority of the stock, has directed the company's affairs in its own interest and to the detriment of the minority stockholders.

Judge Hartmann ordered the company to appear next Tuesday. The St. Louis Amusement Co. was formed in 1921 to hold 14 theaters, of which three had been controlled previously by the Skouras Brothers, and 11 by Harry K. Warner Bros. acquired control of the St. Louis Amusement Co. last February. Its daily advertisements now show it as controlling 20 neighborhood picture houses, some of the largest of which are the Granada, Shenandoah, Mikado, Pageant and Tirol.

Koplar, who retained ownership of some theaters outside the St. Louis Amusement Co., chain, is a large minority stockholder of the St. Louis Amusement Co., and has been considered as an opposing interest to the present control of that company v the Warners.

By the voting power held through Class B stock, the plaintiffs say, Warner Bros. have taken away from the St. Louis Amusement Co. the independent selection of pictures, and have made the selections themselves. It is alleged that the Warners have placed inferior pictures, to their own profit but to the disadvantage of Class A stockholders.

It is also alleged that the Warners have required the company to purchase supplies from the Continental Supply Co., a subsidiary of Warner Bros., at prices higher than it was necessary to pay.

Complaint is also made that the theaters have been required to employ musicians, at a cost of $100,000 a year, in order to help the Warners in getting musicians for the Ambassador Theater. It is alleged that the musicians are not needed in the small houses, and that their employment is for the benefit of the Warners only.

By these means, the petition alleges, the stock of the St. Louis Amusement Co. has been deprived of substantially all its value, and of its market.

RECEIVER SOUGHT FOR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATER CHAIN

Two Minority Stockholders Also Ask for Accounting by St. Louis Amusement Co. Directors.

A suit for appointment of a receiver for the St. Louis Amusement Co., and an accounting of the company's affairs from its directors, was filed today by Jack and Katie Shea, brother and sister. Shea is manager of the Montgomery Theater, Fifteenth and Montgomery streets. He holds 30 shares, and his sister 55, of Class A stock of the St. Louis Amusement Co. The company controls 20 neighborhood theaters, of which the Montgomery is not one.

The suit does not allege that the St. Louis Amusement Co. is insolvent. It charges that Warner Bros., a nationwide moving picture theater organization, which holds the majority of the stock, has directed the company's affairs in its own interest and to the detriment of the minority stockholders.

Judge Hartmann ordered the company to appear next Tuesday. The St. Louis Amusement Co. was formed in 1921 to hold 14 theaters, of which three had been controlled previously by the Skouras Brothers, and 11 by Harry K. Warner Bros. acquired control of the St. Louis Amusement Co. last February. Its daily advertisements now show it as controlling 20 neighborhood picture houses, some of the largest of which are the Granada, Shenandoah, Mikado, Pageant and Tirol.

CHARGES RAILWAY OFFICIALS OWN COLUMBIA STOCK

Counsel for St. Louis Shippers Tells Commerce Commission Why Trucking Monopoly Is Opposed

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.
WASHINGTON, June 25.—The proposal of the St. Louis Terminal Railroad Association to give the Columbia Terminals Co. a monopoly in the hauling of freight between on-track and off-track stations in the St. Louis area, was taken under advisement yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission, after a day of final argument. A decision is not expected for several weeks.

Counsel representing the City of St. Louis, the Chamber of Commerce, shippers, truckers, draymen and three railroads, denounced the proposed contract as an attempt to violate the antitrust laws, and one of their number bluntly charged that officials of certain railroads supporting the proposal are or have been financially interested in the Columbia Terminals Co.

William E. Rosenbaum, representing the St. Louis Shippers' Conference Association, told the commission that W. C. Maxwell, vice president and general manager of the Wabash, had been "the dominant factor in this monopoly proposal," and that Maxwell had owned stock in a former subsidiary of the Columbia Terminals Co. Moreover, he declared that Edward Hart, a representative of the Baltimore & Ohio in St. Louis, paid $10,000 for stock in the Columbia which, at the time of the original hearings on the proposal, had increased in value to $35,000. Rosenbaum said Hart previously had favored competitive trucking, but after purchasing Columbia stock, reversed his stand.

Says Miller Violated Instructions. Rosenbaum also told the commission he was "interested in preventing rebates." Paul Y. Versen, representing the Association of Team and Truck Owners, declared that his clients were willing to post a bond not to engage in rebating, if the competitive system is maintained, and suggested that the Columbia might be required to do likewise.

During the argument, Henry Miller, president of the Terminal Association, was accused of violating his instructions in drafting the monopoly proposal. Frank H. Towner, representing the Chicago & Alton and the Nickel Plate, declared that Miller was directed to ask for competitive bids, but instead proceeded to negotiate exclusively with the Columbia. To this, Robert Woolley added that his own client, the Central Transfer Co., had offered to submit a bid under which shippers would save $300,000 a year as compared with the Columbia proposal. Attorneys for Columbia and the roads which favor giving it a monopoly, argued to the commission that such an arrangement would result in many economies and an immediate saving of $250,000 a year, with possibly greater savings later. They opposed any increase in the allowance for direct delivery between shippers and off-track stations, declaring that it would divert traffic from lines which have on-track stations. However, Glendy B. Arnold, counsel for the Chamber of Commerce, told the commission that an increase to five cents per hundred pounds from the present allowance of two cents would be necessary to revive direct delivery service. He said this service is of great importance, and that adoption of the monopoly proposal would extinguish it, thus producing a delay of a full day in the movement of freight.

Thomas Muldoon, Associate City

Counsel, told the commission that the city is opposed to the proposal on the ground that the establishment of such a monopoly is contrary to sound public policy, and would be a violation of the law. He said the city was interested in maintaining the competitive system, and opposed to any favoritism as between drayage companies. Commissioner Joseph R. Eastman displayed especial interest in the charge that Miller had failed to ask for competitive bids, but counsel for the Terminal lines and the Columbia offered no explanation, beyond saying they were sorry

Miller had not been able to testify at the hearings. Versen declared that the figures produced by supporters of the proposal disclosed that the actual cost to draymen of hauling freight between on-track stations on the east side and the west side of the river is 4.73 cents a hundred pounds in direct delivery service. Since the proposed contract would give Columbia a profit of 2.7 mills per hundred pounds, Versen said it was obvious that 5 cents would be a fair allowance for such service. P. G. HAMMAR QUILTS SWISS EXPERIMENTS

Returns to St. Louis, Leaving Russian Scientist to Continue Longevity Tests.

Park G. Hammar, retired paint manufacturer, who is in St. Louis for a few days, following the return from Montreux, Switzerland, has severed his connection with the experimental laboratory at Montreux, which he instituted and which has been known by his name. Dr. Paul Kouchakoff, Russian scientist, remains in charge, and will continue experiments in diet, the blood formula and life prolongation.

Hammar, a lay student of life prolongation, with no scientific degrees, leased the villa at Montreux and placed Dr. Kouchakoff there last fall. He remained there through the winter and most of the spring, but decided recently not to stay longer. He is at the Park Plaza Apartments, and will go to Michigan for the summer.

"The lease on the villa at Montreux has two years more to run," he said. "I have turned the plant over to Dr. Kouchakoff, under an arrangement satisfactory to him and his family. He is an able scientist, and if laboratory methods can solve the problem of prolonging human life he may be the man to do it; but I think it likely that this question, like some other great physical problems, will be solved by someone who does not approach it in the traditional scientific way. I shall continue my own studies in this line."

Hammar published a book two years ago, outlining his theory that bodily rebuilding and added years of life would be possible through an intensive course of fruit diet, surf swimming and sleep in brief periods, in a face-downward position on a log or bolster. No practical test of this plan has been made.

MAURICE V. JOYCE MARRIES

Maurice V. Joyce, former City Attorney of East St. Louis, and a member of the Illinois Democratic Central Committee, was married yesterday to Miss Mary C. Murray, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Murray, 715 Veronica avenue, East St. Louis. The ceremony took place at Sacred Heart Church, East St. Louis.

Joyce, who is about 57 years old, was married twice before, his first wife dying in 1922 and his second wife in 1930. His bride is a few years younger. He inherited a fortune from his father, the late Maurice V. Joyce.

PEPER HEIRS MUST PAY COST OF RECEIVERSHIP

State Supreme Court Hands Down Sixth Decision in Estate Fight.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 25.—The Missouri Supreme Court handed down its sixth decision yesterday in appeals in the extended litigation over the estate of Mrs. Caroline J. Peper, St. Louis.

The ruling reversed a judgment of St. Louis Circuit Court allowing expenses of a receivership, which had been dissolved by the Supreme Court, against the estate, and directed that such receivership expenses as were properly allowable should be taxed as costs against heirs who brought the receivership suit and not against the estate. The amount in dispute totaled about $14,000.

The Court denied a claim for $100,000 made against the Republic National Bank of St. Louis by the defunct Holland Banking Co. of Springfield, Mo. The Republic National Bank was liquidated in 1924.

A $15,000 claim by Tennie Nicholson against Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Francis, St. Louis, for damages for burns suffered in 1926 in handling a steam cooker in the Francis home, where she was employed as a cook, was denied.

The Court ordered a new trial of a damage suit by Mrs. Corene de Donato against the St. Louis Public Service Co. for injury when an automobile in which she was riding collided with a street car in 1928. A verdict for the plaintiff was reversed on the ground of error in the phrasing of a hypothetical question asked medical experts by Mrs. de Donato's attorney.

A judgment of $17,000 for Sam Gordon against the Muehling Packing Co., of St. Louis, for injuries suffered when his right hand was caught in a sausage grinder, was affirmed. The lower court verdict was $21,000, which was held up to be excessive by $4,000, and the affirmation was conditional upon that amount being remitted.

The Court affirmed a judgment of $22,500 for Jack Frees against the St. Louis Public Service Co., by which he was employed as a lineman, for injuries suffered when he fell from a pole in 1925. The lower court verdict was for $30,000, which the Supreme Court held excessive by $7,500. A remittance of that amount was ordered.

A new trial was ordered in the suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Osmak against the American Car & Foundry Co., for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband, John Osmak, who was run down by a box car in the company yards in 1922.

An award of $32,325 to the Gerhard Realty Co. for damages in connection with the condemnation of a strip of land 50 feet wide, fronting on DeBallerie avenue and about 100 feet in depth, for an extension of Kingsbury place eastward to DeBallerie, was reversed because of error in the admission of testimony on value of the land. The case was remanded for another trial.

WOMAN REVIVED BY INHALATOR

Paints and Falls Against Gas Jet in Bathroom.

Mrs. Charles E. Stahlhut, 5561 Greer avenue, was revived by a fire department inhalator yesterday when overcome by gas when she fainted in the bathroom, striking and partially opening a jet on a heater as she fell.

Mrs. Stahlhut, who is subject to fainting spells, called through the bathroom window when she felt faint to a neighbor, who arrived before much gas had escaped.

HINDENBURG IS STILL SOLDIER AT HEART

When He Puts on Field Marshal Uniform Old Characteristics Appear.

(Copyright, 1931.)

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, June 25.—Field Marshal Paul von Hindenburg, grizzled old veteran of the Prussian army, is President of the German republic now, but it is not strange that a man brought up in the stern school which was his should not lose the attributes of the soldier.

"Der alte"—the old gentleman—they call him, but every so often he puts on the uniform of the Field Marshal and reverts to his position as commander-in-chief of what is left of Germany's fighting forces.

Then woe to the officer or private whose uniform buttons are not fastened exactly right. If Hindenburg catches him he's in for trouble.

Not long ago he took part in the dedication of Prussia's memorial to her war dead. For 15 minutes he marched up and down in front of the honor guard and when the ceremony was over an adjutant suggested that he climb into his automobile and drive home.

"Just a minute," said the President. Then, turning to the chief of staff, asked, "Who was responsible for today's parade march?"

They gave him the name of the musical conductor. "Tell him for me," said Von Hindenburg. "that the band was in fine shape today."

Anyone who thinks this Field Marshal and statesman is a feeble old man is badly mistaken. He still has a will of his own and those who work with him respect him.

Instruction Biplane Crashes at Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.
By the Associated Press.
WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis., June 26.—Chief Instructor Tom Nash, 27 years old, of the Nepeca Tri-City Airport here, was killed yesterday when the biplane in which he was giving instruction to E. L. Moore, Marshfield, crashed in a spin. Moore, who was at the controls at the time, suffered a broken leg.

By the Associated Press.
WILSONVILLE, Neb., June 25.—T. G. Stone, 41 years old, of Wichita, Kan., was killed here late yesterday when his plane crashed after a nose dive. He was piloting for Vic Gavin, 43, also of Wichita, who was injured slightly when he leaped at 2000 feet. His parachute became momentarily entangled in wing struts of the plane.

STRANGLES SELF WITH BELT
Harry Gottfried, World War Veteran, Found Dead.

Harry Gottfried, 40 years old, a World War veteran, strangled himself with a belt, which he attached to a towel rack, at the home of his brother, John. Seller, 2651 Montana avenue, where he lived.

The body was found by Mr. and Mrs. Seller when they returned home after a three-hour absence last night. Mrs. Seller, sister of Gottfried, told police her brother had been under treatment for nervousness.

Not Since the Tango Was in Vogue

Have Good Cottons, Good Silk and Good Leather Sold So Low!

The Tango, lace parasols, bird hats and split skirts were all in vogue in 1915! And if you're a "hound for statistics" you'll find that not since that time have raw materials in general sold as low as they are selling now. That means you can buy more good quality for your dollar than you've bought in almost a generation! Startling, isn't it? But it's even more startling to find full Vandervoort quality at such low prices which reflect as always, the opportunities of the market!

BANKRUPTCY PETITION FILED AGAINST DEW DROP INN, INC.

Four Creditors Bring Action Following the Appointment of Receiver by Court.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court yesterday by four creditors against Dew Drop Inn, Inc., operating 10 restaurants in St. Louis and one in Wellston. The plaintiffs, whose claims aggregate about $1000, are Armour & Co., packers; William A. Stickney Cigar Co., Stickney-Hoelscher Cigar Co. and the St. Louis Janitor Supply Co.

On June 15 suit for a receiver was filed against the Dew Drop company in Circuit Court by Hyman Lochman, its vice president. He alleged that it was insolvent and owed $85,000 because of mismanagement. Three days later Judge Roskopf appointed John B. Dale, an attorney, and Bert Newburger, vice president of the Amos-James Grocer Co., a creditor, as receivers.

BYRNES OFFERS PLAN TO BREAK DEPRESSION

Would Have U. S. Issue 20-Year Certificates and Repeal Eighteenth Amendment.

A four-page circular headed "Immediate Economic Revival" has been sent by Col. James W. Byrnes, president of the Missouri Association Against Prohibition, to the association's mailing list. It outlines Byrnes' ideas as to means for ending the business depression. Abandonment of prohibition is an essential part of the plan.

The first part of Byrnes' plan calls for issuance by the United States of 20-year certificates of indebtedness, to the amount of the debts due from European countries, the certificates to bear 3 per cent interest. The proceeds of their sale, according to Byrnes' plan, would be used for public works, and if necessary, for ship subsidies.

"To take surplus out of the country."

Part of the certificates, he suggests, should be used for paying a premium of 20 per cent on agricultural exports.

"To reimburse the Treasury for customs duties," he suggests modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of beer and wines "under state regulation and control, without saloons." A tax of $10 a barrel on beer and $1 a gallon on wine would yield $700,000,000 a year, he says. To supplement this plan, a plan for unloading the Farm Board's present holdings of grain is suggested.

Teh result, Byrnes says, would be a market for agricultural products, revival of agriculture and strengthening of farm loans, increase of mercantile and freight business. To complete the plan, the eighteenth amendment should be repealed, and a plan of state liquor control like the Quebec plan adopted, with an estimated yield large enough to pay off a $1,200,000,000 issue of the proposed 20-year certificates.

This plan, Byrnes says, "make be criticized as Utopian, but action is preferable to stagnation. It will not cost legitimate industry one penny, merely diverting for economic revival the income, on account of the eighteenth amendment, of grafters, bootleggers and criminals generally."

SCORE THREE

ON SINGLE

By James M. Gould,

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, June 25.—Having this afternoon's double-header from the Athletics in a row over the champions of the world, the second scrap with Walter Stewart as their right-hander, opposed Stewart.

The attendance at the second game was estimated at 4500. Moriarty and Owens were the umpires.

The game:

FIRST INNING—BROWNS—Bishop fouled to Burns. Haas singled to right. Schulte ran into right field for a great glove-hand catch of Cochran's drive. Simmons struck out.

BROWNS—Schulte singled to left. Melillo filed to Miller. Goslin filed to Haas. Storti tripled off the screen in right, scoring Schulte. Bishop threw out Ferrell. ONE RUN.

SECOND—ATHLETICS—Storti threw out Fox. Miller fouled to Ferrell. Dykes walked. McNair singled to left. Dykes stepping at second. Shores walked, filling the bases. With a three-and-two count, and all the runners in motion, Bishop singled to right and Dykes, McNair and Shores scored. Bishop reached second when Ferrell fumbled a return throw. Haas filed to Goslin. THREE RUNS.

BROWNS—Bettencourt hit high in the left field seats for a home run. Burns singled to right. Levey hit in front of the plate and was thrown out by Cochran. Stewart walked. Schulte also walked and the bases were filled. Shores was taken out and McDonald went in to pitch for the Athletics. Melillo hit into a double play. McNair to Bishop. ONE RUN.

THIRD—ATHLETICS—Cochran filed to Schulte. Simmons filed deep to Schulte. Fox filed to Bettencourt.

BROWNS—McNair threw out Goslin. Storti grounded to Fox. Ferrell popped to McNair.

FOURTH—ATHLETICS—Miller filed to Bettencourt. Bettencourt made a nice running catch of Dykes' drive to right. McNair struck out.

BROWNS—Bettencourt walked. Burns hit to Fox who touched first an throw to McNair to double Bettencourt at second. Levey struck out.

FIFTH—ATHLETICS—McDonald struck out. Bishop bounced a home run off the roof of the right field pavilion. Haas beat out a slow roller to Melillo. Cochran singled to right and Bettencourt's lined throw to Storti, got Haas at third. Simmons singled to center Cochran going to third. Double steal failed. Cochran being out at the plate. Ferrell to Melillo to Ferrell. ONE RUN.

TIMEKEEPER IS KICKED IN FACE AS O'SHOCKER DOES HIS STUFF

By Damon Kerby.

"Look out, Pat! Look out! Jim's gonna get another body scissor on you!" shrieked wrestling fans at Pat O'Shocker last night at Battery A.

Sure enough, it did seem as though Clinkstock was going to wrap his long legs around O'Shocker again.

But not O'Shocker has warded him off, and has grabbed him by the neck. He sends Clinkstock spinning. But something goes wrong, for he doesn't get the right distance. Clinkstock is still in the ring. He's up.

Another throw. This time the heave is a success. Clinkstock goes through the ropes and lands in the laps of officials at ringside. The timekeeper, Earl Brady, comes up with a bloody face. Clinkstock has kicked him on the way down. Clinkstock is coming back. He will be ready for action before the referee counts 30-18-19. "Come on, Jim, come on!" "Get him, Pat!" "Throw him out here! Out this way!" shout the fans.

O'Shocker grabs Clinkstock by the head again—another front headlock. Wham! Clinkstock swishes through the ropes and into the press row. Reporters overturn chairs and do their best to get back out of the danger zone. They are successful, to the extent that Clinkstock's fall is unbroken. The Indian bled the dust!

He lays there groaning—the count has started again. He makes an effort to arise, his perspiring back covered with clinders—No go—18-19-20! Then referee Harry Cook grabs O'Shocker's arm and holds it.

The Irishman had won in 33 minutes 40 seconds. And that, ladies and gentlemen, was the climax of Tom Pack's perfectly gorgeous wrestling party last night at Battery A. And did the crowd love it? Man, they revelled in it. Can you beat it? You can't even tie it.

The main event wasn't the only exciting moment; not by three other roughhouse fights. Paul Jones of Houston and George Zaharias of Pueblo put on an affair which, if anything, furnished more excitement throughout than did the main event. Jones made the mistake, however, of attending a banquet just before the program opened. He went through the entire bill of fare and his interior revolved, after taking George's kicks and slams for more than 35 minutes, and Jones was forced to concede the fight.

But he'll get another crack at Zaharias. He'll pay and pay again, as they probably will, Zaharias will suffer what David of old wrote of his enemies: His mischief shall return upon his own head, and his violent dealing shall come down upon his own pate. And the wrestling fans will pack the place to see Jones do it.

Paul Harper, former Texas collegian, and Marshall Blackstock of Atlanta, put on a storm of slugging, kicking and slapping for 11 minutes before Harper won by a croch hold and body slam. Mike Steinborn, the German strong boy, used the same method in downing Joe Cox, Kansas City, in 11 minutes, 4 seconds.

There was an intermission of 20 minutes between the semifinal and the main event. O'Shocker had attended the same banquet as Jones and a State official, at ringside, told reporters the delay in starting the main event was because O'Shocker was trying to digest his dinner before going into action. He had learned something from Jones' predicament.

O'Shocker wrestled Monday night in Memphis, Tuesday night in Chattanooga, and then spent part of yesterday on the train, in coming from Chattanooga to St. Louis. Then a heavy banquet and another wrestling match, his third in three days. Smart boys, these wrestlers!

The attendance was announced officially today at 3134 spectators, with gross receipts, $2555.05. The State collected $121.80 in tax.

What's Wrestling All About? Asks Sen. Gardner at Taylor Banquet

Seneca C. Taylor, State Athletic Commissioner for the St. Louis district, was given a testimonial dinner last night at the Missouri Athletic Association, attended by about 150 prominent citizens and members of the sporting fraternity.

Tribute to Commissioner Taylor's sportsmanship and honesty was paid by a number of speakers called on by Judge Robert W. Hall, toastmaster. Some of the speakers in recalling changes in some sports under Taylor, pointed out that wrestling had changed from a tire-some spectacle to a thing of real man's action under the State Commissioner. Former Senator Alfred Gardner was one of these. In humorous vein which brought down the house, he said in describing modern wrestling:

"Commissioner, you have given us a new kind of sport. You have incorporated the roughest features of football, polo (without the mallet) and all other rough sports, and have called it wrestling. I've been going to these modern matches and I have yet to learn what the rules are. And I don't think anyone else knows, including yourself, Mr. Commissioner. I move we appoint

Ellsworth Vines Here to Practice For Clay Court

Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Cal., sensational young tennis champion of his state, is in St. Louis, and will practice the balance of the week at Triple A for the national clay court championship tournament which begins Monday at the club in Forest Park.

Besides gaining the singles title in the 1931 tourney, Vines, with Keith Gledhill won the California doubles honors. His play in tournaments last year was one of the features of the season's tennis activities.

Vines will begin his practice immediately with Karl Hodge. States will begin the European zone title. Lott, Shields, Van Ryn and Wood are good young fellows, but not hefty enough as yet.

Tilden on the team would be worth more than any two of the present American team's eligibles. His play against the professional Kozeluh and Richards proved what a master he still is, despite his middle age.

This great veteran will some day be entered in the Hall of Fame as America's greatest all-time player; perhaps the greatest in the history of any country. Here's what Kozeluh, the Czech-Slovakian, had to say of Tilden after playing a score or more of matches with him:

"I maintain that Tilden as he was in several matches during our tour is unbeatable. No player today, not even Cochet, will beat Tilden as I have known him."

"The pace, spin, power, deception, speed, steadiness, accuracy and strategy of Bill's game are superb."

Certainly no player of any country played a more important part in national and international tennis as Tilden has done for the dozen years, in which he stood at the head of the pastime. For more than a decade he ranked his country, and the Davis cup matches he won in that time probably set a modern record.

What happened to the old baseball between 1920 and 1930 to make it so bouncy and jouncy, may never be known. But that something was done to it in that period, to cause that amazing peak of 1929-30, can no longer be denied.

The deflation of 1931 speaks for itself.

BEATING Cochet at Wimbledon and beating him at Paris are two different things. Last we become too hopeful of winning back the Davis cup this year with our team of juveniles, it might be well to recall last year.

Wilmer Allison in 1930 put out Cochet at Wimbledon. But when it came to taking Cochet in the Davis cup—well, even the old wizard, Tilden, failed.

It is probable that Cochet was merely seeking a tuning-up practice when he entered at Wimbledon this year. It was not until after he had failed more than once in the summer of 1930 that he rose to his winning form for the Davis cup contests. It may be the same way this time.

There is one difference. Last year by the time the Wimbledon event rolled around Cochet had played considerable tennis. This year sickness has prevented him from starting early training.

There is a chance that he may not be able to make the grade in time for the Davis cup challenge round time.

That would weaken the French amazingly and perhaps give our youngsters a look-in against Borotra, Brugnon and Boussus. Of course, if La Cote plays, then the situation is bad. No American players are able to cope with either Cochet or La Cote at his best.

A Dab Outlook. If the famous French trio, Borotra, Cochet and Lacoste, are on edge, America might as well not play the challenge round—assuming that the United States team is as good as out.

TWO ST. LOUISANS IN QUARTERFINAL OF VALLEY NET TITLE TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, June 25.—Wray D. Brown of St. Louis, unseated his racket in today's quarter-finals of the Missouri Valley tennis tournament's men's singles, a prime favorite to defeat Paul Halpin of Omaha, Neb., and enter the semifinals. Brown in seeded No. 1.

While Brown was coasting to victory, 6-0, 6-2, yesterday over Al Burgess of Kansas City, Halpin encountered all sorts of trouble in downing Ed Pearson of Kansas City, Kan., 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

The other quarter-finals pitted Nelson McIninch, Kansas City's main hope in the tournament, against a fellow townsman, Sterling Cutlip; G. Boehmer Jr., St. Louis, faced Doc Barr, Dallas, Tex., and Hal Surface, Kansas City, was matched against George Jennings of Chicago, National Public Courts champion.

McIninch, high school champion of Missouri, had the toughest battle, eliminating Gordon Braudt, Chicago, 3-7, 6-2. Braudt, seeded No. 4, wilted under the heat after a thrilling first set. Boehmer won from William Flynn, Kansas City, 6-1, 6-4.

In women's singles, Miss Mae Cuervo, Wichita, Kan., the top-seeded player, remained in the running by virtue of a fine 6-0, 6-1 victory over Betty Paeth, Kansas City.

Hal Surface of Kansas City defeated Alex George 6-0, 6-2 today to reach the semi-finals of the junior singles. Wilbur Hess of Fort Worth and Marvin Richmond of Kansas City won from Warren Larsen and Jesse Dalton, Kansas City, 6-3, 9-7, in the second round of the junior doubles.

This and That. THE ups and the downs of the St. Louis Browns. Is keeping the enemy guessing; They've handed some spears to the A's and the Tanks. Which proved to be somewhat distressing.

They used to blow in and blow out when they'd win. What is commonly called a clean sweep. In the race they're behind but the victors find. At the switch they are never asleep.

Those Washington boys have been making some noise. While engaged in White Elephant hunting. And Outfielder West has been doing his best. To help them go South with the bunting.

The Cards in the East have been having no feast. And with lots of hard luck they've been coping. But homeward they'll ride with the turn of the tide. Still leading, the fans are all hoping.

Watch Him Grow. See where Mickey Walker, the "toy bulldog," has outgrown the middleweight division and will soon be fighting in the "Great Dane" class.

Mickey first craves a crack at Jack Sharkey after which he may take on Young Stribling, the Georgia greyhound; Max Schmeling, the German dachshund, and Primo Carnera, the Italian cheesehound, in the order named.

Sharkey's only claim to honorable mention in the canine category is the fact that he may have stood the dogwatch while in the Navy.

However, the "toy bulldog" might get the rollers put under him if he bites off more than he can chew. Buzz Arlett broke a thumb sliding into base in St. Louis. It was his hitch-hiking thumb too; but as the Phils aren't going anywhere, what boots it?

Rogers H. naby who puts up a pretty stiff argument with an umpire is now engaged in an income tax dispute with Uncle Sam. "Alm he the versatile cuss?"

However, we like the Rajah's chances. Uncle Sam has reversed himself so often he doesn't know whether he is going or coming.

Dog My Cats! The man who has been making and selling hot dogs for eight years without ever having eaten one evidently knows his hot dogs.

What, No Cars? If the street car quits it will mean scorching gravel. The St. Charles Rock road will be a hard road to travel.

Wiley Post and Harold Gatty cleared the first water hazard in their flight around the world and were on the green in one. From Chester, England, to Moscow by way of Berlin is a iron shot and a short putt. If they don't go around in par it will be due to an adverse wind or something.

Connie Mack holds the world's record with 88 passed balls in 73 games he caught for Washington in 1887. Indicating that as a backstop Connie was just a whistling station.

Mickey Cochrane probably wouldn't have 88 passed balls if he caught the rest of his life.

92 Golfers in Handicap Event At Westwood

Only 92 golfers have entered the third handicap tournament of the season which is to be held at Westwood Country Club, Friday. Additional entries, however, are expected as players will be permitted to enter at the first tee.
Instead of splitting the field in two and using two courses, officials in charge of the tournament are using only one course and starting the field off at 10:30 o'clock in the morning instead of in the afternoon as formerly.
Professionals of the district, of course, are included. Clarke Morse, Normandale, has had the lowest gross score in both of the events held so far this season.
The pairing:
10:30—John Griffin, Forest Park, and K. A. Schuler, Forest Park; J. K. Dubrouillet, Forest Park, and L. A. Watkins, Forest Park; J. G. McGarhey, North Hills, and W. L. Mason, Jr., North Hills; 10:40—J. L. Thompson, North Hills, and E. G. Greinzbach, North Hills; W. W. French, North Hills, and Casper Jost, North Hills; 11:00—Louis Bettman, Westwood, and Lee Krauchi, Crystal Lake; H. L. Zerk, Crystal Lake, and Frank N. Dutton, Crystal Lake; 11:10—Jerry Black, Forest Park, and Matt Brazil, North Shore; Lance Pitt, Forest Park, and Fred J. Pedor, Forest Park; 11:20—Alanson Brown, Bellevue, and R. J. Gates, Forest Park; Tim O'Connor, Midland Valley, and Dr. L. R. Davis, Forest Park; 11:30—Al H. Stracke, Triple A, and Bill Schwartz, Midland Valley; Charles Kemp, Midland Valley, and Charles Kemp, Triple A; 11:40—L. F. Thompson, North Hills, and E. G. Greinzbach, North Hills; W. W. French, North Hills, and Casper Jost, North Hills; 11:50—Carl Hallen, Forest Park, and Louis Lohr, Westwood; G. E. PROGRAM IS COMPLETED FOR BENEFIT SHOW AT KIRKWOOD SATURDAY

Herbie Hahn, welterweight champion of the Western A. A. U. whose only defeat in four years of amateur boxing came at the hands of Eddie Flynn in the national final at Madison Square Garden, will complete his training today for his match with Eddie Steele, 160-pound champion of Northwestern University at the charity athletic carnival of the Kirkwood Lions' Club at the high school stadium, Saturday evening.
The semifinal will be a return bout between Joie Parks, lightweight champion of the Western A. A. U., and "Tex" Saunders of the East St. Louis Knights of Columbus A. C.
Eddie Batz, former district champion, and Earle Taylor of Jefferson Barracks, have been matched in the 160-pound. Other bouts will bring together Sammy Burns, member of the Kirkwood Fire Department and veteran of the ring, and Ray Lange, winner of the St. Louis-Chicago intercity bout at 125 pounds. Eddie Scheer and Lloyd Young will go three rounds at 125 pounds.
Roland Llewellyn of Valley Park, and Lou Blumer of St. Louis, will meet at 160 pounds, while another 160-pound event will be between Glenn Gottsburger of Webster Groves, and Tommy Sullivan of St. Louis. "Kid" Fortis of the Missouri School of Mines and Johnny Abels of St. Louis will open the preliminaries.
A battle royal between five colored boxers will be the curtain raiser. This will be followed with a 30-minute wrestling match.

MRS. TYSON SETS NEW RECORD IN PRACTICE FOR WESTERN TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 25.—Mrs. Marian Burns Tyson set a new course record of 74, one over women's par, at the Milburn Golf and Country Club yesterday while practicing for the defense of her women's Western golf title in August at Chicago.

The old record of 77 was made by Mrs. O. S. Hill, trans-Mississippi titleholder. She established it two years ago when the mark was three under women's par for the course.

False Teeth
Don't allow your false teeth to drop or slip when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little Kling on your plates. This new improved powder forms a comfort cushion—holds plates so snug, they feel and act like your own teeth. No more danger of rocking plates—eating will again be a joy. Leading dentists recommend Kling—it is guaranteed better than anything you ever used or money refunded. Large package 35c at all druggists.

TWO MATCHES ADDED TO AMATEUR BOXING PROGRAM AT BATTERY A

Two supporting matches have been added to Barney McCarthy's amateur boxing card which will be held tomorrow evening at the outdoor Battery A arena. Dave Morris, Senate A. C. lightweight, faces Pete Schneider, rugged Crave Coeur A. C. battler, and Jack Smith, Business Men's Gymnasium 160-pounder, battles Al Ellenwell, Valley Park A. C. fighter.

The local fighters, who will take part in the special inter-city bouts, are ready for their battles. George Brendel, North Side bantamweight, whose recent showings have been very good, opposes Eddie Hamilton, one of the four Memphis fighters who will arrive tonight. Brendel is substituting for Clifford Doetzel, clever South Broadway A. C. boxer.
Eddie Richardson, George Doetzel, George Mayberry, Al Van Luten and Carl Schaeffer are some of the other fighters entered.

FORMER OFFICERS OF BOND CONCERN
ACCUSED OF RAUD

Six Persons Indicted as Result of Collage of $30,- 000,000 Mortgage Firm in Cleveland

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., June 25.—The crash of the $30,000,000 Union Mortgage Co. three years ago, with a loss to its creditors of $17,000,000, resulted in the indictment yesterday of S. Oyster Crobaugh, former president, and six other former officers and employees.

Crobaugh, who was called the "boy wonder in the mortgage field" when he built the concern up to one of the largest in the country and his assistants were charged with violating the fraud statute.

The other former officers and employees named were D. D. Kimmel, president of the board and former president of the Midland Bank; William A. Casler, sales manager; Robert H. McWilliam, auditor; John A. Stansbury, assistant sales manager; and Lawrence Mc-Dough and E. H. Pylipp, salesmen.

They are expected to go on trial
the September term of court.
convicted, they will face fines of $100 to $1000 and prison sentences of one to five years.

The defendants were charged with "unlawfully and knowingly" issuing statements that the mortgage company was the owner of collateral trust gold bonds, held in trust by trust companies to secure bonds offered for sale on a partial payment plan, "whereas, in truth and in fact," the company did not own the bonds.

Crobaugh was indicted by a Federal grand jury a year ago on a charge of using the mails to defraud, but the indictment was quashed on the orders from the Attorney General's office.

The company went into receivership Jan. 10, 1928. Robert F.
Berwald, receiver, said the $3000 creditors will receive approximately 6.2 cents—the dollar. Among the creditors were approximately 3500 who paid $1,705,622 as part payments on bonds.

Eighty-seven witnesses testified before the grand jury, among them all of those indicted except Cro-baugh, Kimmel and McWilliam.
Crobaugh offered to waive immunity and testify, but the jury refused to hear him. The others waived immunity.

Stockholders Buy Railway.
Get Chicago, Springfield & St.
Louis Line for $200,000.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 25.—
Stockholders in the Chicago, Springfield & St. Louis Railway today bought the road at public auction for $200,000, the minimum price set by Federal Judge Louis FitzHenry.

The 10 miles of track and rolling stock was sold at the road's
"passenger station" here today. J.
E. Kowden and Chester W. Bot-tome of New York City, representing the stockholders, made the bid, the only one offered. Representatives of the Chicago & Illinois Midland Railroad were present. It was indicated that the C. & I. M. may take over the track and equip-

Australia Accepts Moratorium on Its Debt to Britain.
By the Associated Press.
CANBERRA, Australia, June 25.—
Premier Scullin in the House of Representatives today read Chancellor Philip Snowden's offer to extend the proposed war debt moraatorium to the dominions and announced that the Government accepted his proposal.

"We appreciate Great Britain's interpretation of the American plan," he said, "and her action in so promptly sending it to the dominions. The Hoover plan will, if adopted by all the Allies, go far toward restoring the general economic position of the world."

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 25.—A fight to the finish by the city government to rid business of gangster rule was promised today by Mayor Walker at a conference with representatives of industry and labor.

Walker, in answering the ap-

WANTS UNION ELECTRIC CO. TO PAY PART OF BRIDGE COST

State Plans Suit to Help Finance Span on Highway 5 Over Lake of Osage.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 25.—

Attorney-General Shartel yesterday disclosed that assistants in his office were examining procedure necessary to bring suit against the Union Electric Co. of St. Louis in an attempt to compel the company to pay part of the cost of constructing a bridge across the Lake of the Osage on Highway No. 5.

The Attorney-General said that such a suit would be instituted if proper laws could be discovered upon which to base the action.

Residents of Camden and Morgan counties have made repeated efforts to obtain a bridge across the lake. The waters, formed by the $3,000,000 hydro-electric power plant at Bagnell on the Osage River divide the counties. A permit for a ferry at the point where the bridge is desired has been issued.

Such a bridge would cost about

$1,000,000, highway engineers estimated. If it had been erected before the dam was closed it could have been constructed for about $300,000.

Why be satisfied with SECOND-CHOICE

WHEN FIRST-CHOICE costs no more?

The department of business research of a great public institution asked 205,000 representative motorists this question:

"Regardless of price, convenience, etc., what tire do you consider the best tire made?"

Look at the chart; the answers totaled there tell the whole story.

They tell it so plainly they suggest another question, likewise straight to the point:

"Why be satisfied with a second-choice tire when the first-choice costs no more?"

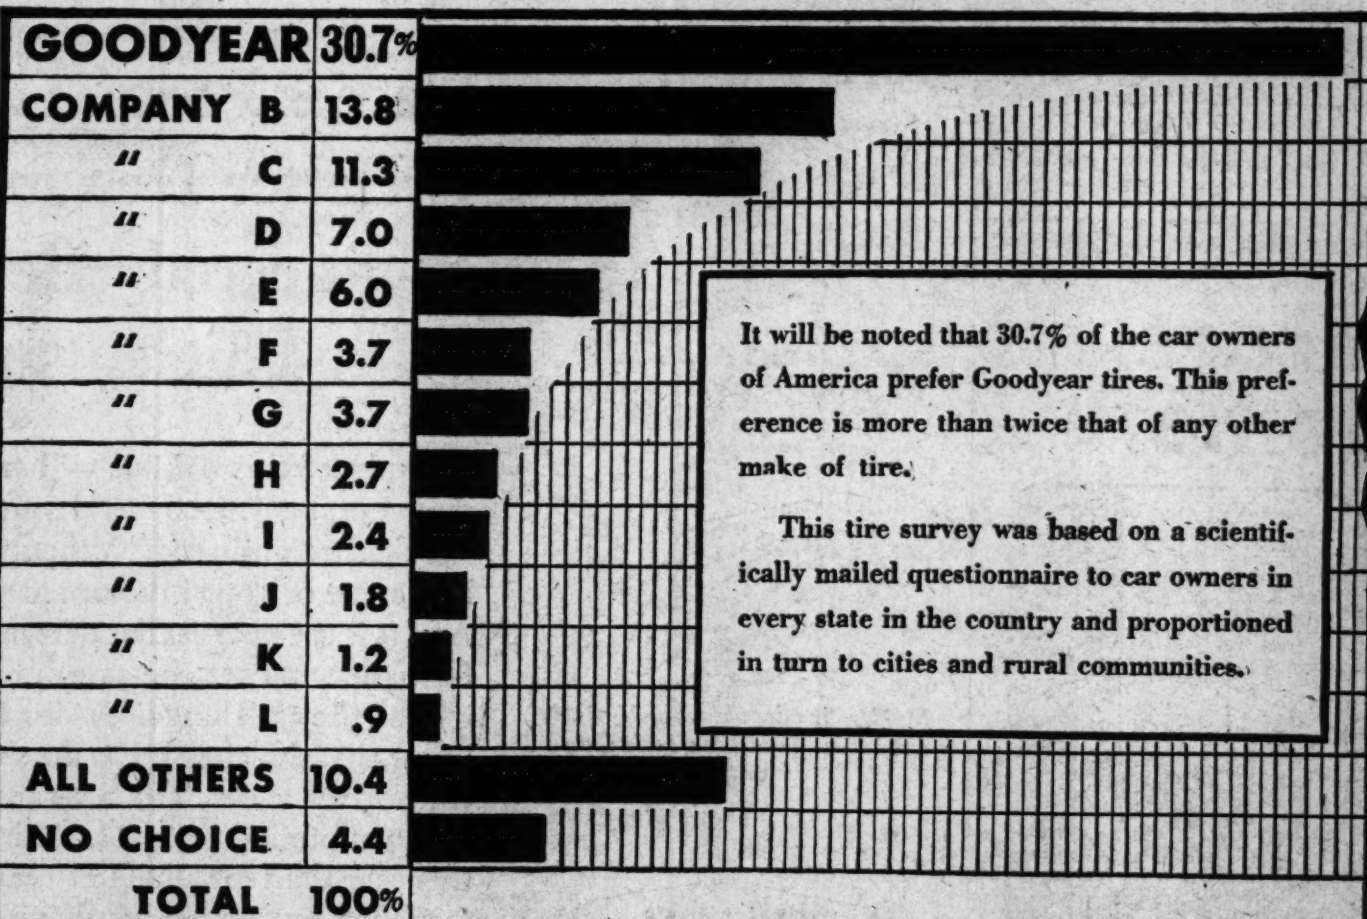

Fact is, experienced tire-buyers aren't.

That's why more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!

E. Williams at Aldermen's Committee Hearing Cites 17 Pct. Decrease in Downtown Travel.

GGESTS ST. LOUIS TAKE OVER LINES

lls Fear of Ownership 'A Bugaboo' — City Could Own Trolleys Without Operating Them

the best interests of the whole must be considered in any action taken by the Board of Aldermen toward solution of the transportation problem, Cleveland A. Newton, former Congressman, said at the hearing held yesterday afternoon by the Aldermen's Transportation Committee.

Newton is the committee's speaker for the first time, directing questioning of witnesses. Alderman Edward W. Wiehe, chairman, sided. The committee was asked to study the report published a year ago by the Transportation Survey Commission and study the transportation situation in general, and recommend legislation if it sees fit.

Views of the downtown business districts were given by Charles E. Williams, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Progress Council, who said he was speaking Arnold Stifel, chairman of the Progress Council's transportation committee.

Business Group Alarmed. Williams indicated that owners of downtown property, particularly the district near the river, and engaged in businesses in the central downtown district, are alarmed by the movement of business toward the outlying areas and reduction of the number of persons entering the central area.

Newton asked for a reduction of the number of persons entering the central area, and for a reduction of the number of persons leaving the central area. He thought lack of satisfactory mass transportation was the cause.

Loss of business downtown decreases large property values. Williams said, and eventually will grow a burden of higher taxes on a great part of the city. He said the central district now pays about 35 percent of the taxes and would pay more if business could be increased to justify it. He related that surveys made in 1929 and 1930 showed a decline of about 10 percent in the number of persons entering and leaving the downtown district. The number one day in 1926 was 544,572 and a comparable day in 1930 it was 488,366, a loss of 76,206. Along with this has gone a loss of about 9,000,000 a year in retail sales, said.

Kind of Service Needed. Newton asked for a favor skip stops on street cars are made. He said that the sections farthest from the center of the city are the most in need of service. Newton said that the interest of the city must be considered in the settlement of the problem.

Without referring to the possibility of purchase of the street railway system by the city, Williams discussed the financial status of the company, which as is known, recently stated its earnings in the first three months of this year were not sufficient to meet the interest on its debts.

"We men in the merchandising business have learned that an article is worth only what we can get for it," he said.

Dissemination of Transit Plans. Williams discussed the possibility of subways under Olive street and Washington avenue between Eleventh street and Third street. He said the estimated cost was $1,000,000. He also discussed elevated structures and said they no longer need be unsightly and noisy in Chicago. He advocated at least three large bus terminals in the downtown district to take care of the thousands of shoppers coming to St. Louis by bus from surrounding territory. The present bus terminal should be turned into a bus terminal, he said.

Two representatives of Gravois avenue business organizations were present to advocate street cars on throw a burden of higher taxes on most of the city. He said the central district now pays about 55 per cent of the taxes and would likely pay more if business could be increased to justify it. He recalled that surveys made in 1926 and 1930 showed a decline of about

48,566, a loss of 78,266. Along with this has gone a loss of about $10,000,000 a year in retail sales, he said.Kind of Service Needed.
Williams said downtown business men now recognize that the growth and development of the city depend upon adequate mass transportation, fast and comfortable, and described the problem as one of the most important matters before the city.Touching upon the facts surrounding the problem, Williams called attention to the constant decrease in street car riding since 1923 and the growth of individual automobile transportation. He went out to solve the most important matter before the city.Without referring to the possi-

BOMBAY, June 25.—Mahatma Gandhi reiterated his faith in unlimited prohibition today. "If I were appointed dictator for one hour for all India," he wrote in his weekly, Young India, "the first thing I would do would be to close without compensation all liquor shops, destroy all toddy palm trees from which liquor is locally extracted, compel factory owners to produce humane conditions for workmen and open refreshment and recreation rooms where workmen could get innocent drinks and equally innocent amusement."

eased persons for whom a supply of liquor was medically necessary."LAND TAX BILL COMPROMISE IS APPROVED BY COMMONSLiberal-Labor Modification Pro-

Threatened Crisis Averted.By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 25.—The House of Commons last night adopted the Liberal-Labor compromise on the land tax bill, providing for a double taxation principle in a form modified from the original proposition, differences on which threatened a Parliamentary crisis last week.The Conservatives opposed an amendment by Chancellor Philip Snowden to the Liberal motion, but lost by 49 votes.Originally the Liberal amendment provided for deduction of the land tax from the income tax in certain categories. Under the amended form, the taxes graduate up from one-eighth of a penny to the pound of assessed value of land, instead of from one penny on certain classes of real estate.

buses as proposed by the Public Service Co. One of these, John Schneider of the Jefferson-Gravois Bank, admitted when questioned by Newton that: if it could be shown that buses were better he would favor buses. The other, Harold L. Wachter of the Jefferson-Gravois Business Association, was strongly against buses. He thought street cars were safer because they run on a fixed track.Newton asked both if they would favor skip stops on Gravois in case street cars are retained, so that speedy service could be given to the sections farther out. They were for skip stops in the outlying sections but not in their own neighborhoods. Newton reminded them that the interests of the whole city must be considered and that there must be "give and take" in the settlement of the transportation problem.Albert L. Schweitzer, attorney for the Gravois Avenue Business Associations, made a statement favoring the retention of street cars.
He said local communities should "lose their selfishness" in the interest of an adequate city-wide transportation system.The committee will hold further

Aguinaldo, who led the Filipino insurrection against the United States after the Spanish-American War, declared today in favor of immediate independence for the Philippines. His stand has been that the Philippines eventually should have independence, but that they should take time to prepare for it.Aguinaldo made known his change of mind to Senator Arthur Robinson (Rep.), Indiana, who visited him in a hospital. Aguinaldo is recovering from an accident in which he suffered a broken leg.He thought the United States should grant independence immediately, but that it should take five years to retire from the island.
After that, he said, the United States should allow free trade between the islands and the United States for 10 years.Aguinaldo declared the economic catastrophe predicted by retentionists in case of immediate independence would not occur and that American capital would be better off under Filipino rule here than at present.Filipino gratitude to the United States for such independence, he went on, would be so great that American capital would be well served and that the sugar industry could survive.Aguinaldo said a free Filipino Government could work out tariff arrangements with other countries which would assure a market for island products, particularly in China and Japan.He stated that Senator Vandenberg of Michigan and Representative Dowell of Iowa had suggested that he formally outline his plan and quoted them as saying it would have a good psychological effect if he would visit the United States.Aguinaldo said he feared he would be unable to go to the United States this year, but might do so next year if Congress showed signs of remaining in session until June or later.He does not like cold weather

ABOARD SUBMARINE NAU-TILUS, en route from Cork to Devonport, England, June 25
(by radio).—The Nautilus last night was on its way under tow across St. George's Channel and up the English Channel to Devonport, where the engines and motors, which broke down on the cross-Atlantic voyage, will be repaired for the trip under the tow to the North Pole.FOUL AIR MADE

Heartened Men.By the Associated Press.
MANILA, June 25.—Gen. Emilio
Aguinaldo, who led the Filipino insurrection against the United States after the Spanish-American War, declared today in favor of immediate independence for the Philippines. His stand has been
that the Philippines eventually should have independence, but that they should take time to prepare for it.In two previous dispatches I told how the breakdown left us helpless in the Atlantic, 1000 miles from the Irish coast, how the United States battleships Arkansas and Wyoming plowed through heavy seas to our rescue, and how a three-hour battle to get a tow-line aboard from the Wyoming came to nothing when the line parted, after we had thought our rescue was assured.It was late on the night of June 14, and we were again helpless in the trough of a heavy sea. The crew was exhausted by its long struggle on the slippery, narrow deck of the Nautilus. By morning the crew had reached our strength though we got little rest in our tossing craft.Morning found the sea calmer.
A boat put out from the Wyoming to bring a shackle which we made fast to our towing pennant.
Again the crew of the battleship shot a line across our bow. Then the huge boat backed away, bringing us close astern, and a hawser with a buoy attached was dropped.
Soon we had the buoy aboard and the line was made fast. At last we were secure to the Wyoming.Seven knots in tow.
The Arkansas, waiting in the offing, sent us its best wishes and steamed off while the Wyoming took us in tow, keeping us going at seven knots an hour.We thought we would soon solve our motor and get going on our own power. The batteries had been used and mistreated so much that it was too weak to start our own good engine. They had to be boosted with the auxiliary set, but that was giving us trouble because of the air had gotten into the fuel lines.The first day of towing was one of sunshine, and everybody took a spell on deck. The cook prepared luncheon in the super-structure of the galley.Then after a big meal, the electricians and I turned to the motors in the main motor room, which was filthy with oil and grease.
With the engines stopped, the batteries down in the bilges could not be pumped air, and the circulation system was idle.Used oil and salt water swilled about in the inner workings of the machinery. Scraps from construc-Shots Flames, but Runs.
Finally the electricians jammed home the switch. The port motor sparked and spluttered, blue flames girdled the compartment, and its armature, striking the pole pieces, sent showers of red sparks through the motor room. But the motor ran, the engine gathered speed.
The fuel, under high compression, shot into the cylinders, and it began to turn over smoothly. Thank God, it was away at last. Its intake valves would soon clear the air from the diving compartment forward through the scientists' compartment, the living quarters, the control room and galley and out into the foul air exhaust.The motor room was cleaned. The effect on everyone was instantaneous. The crew drank in the fresh air, but they were still sick men. Hot food and drinks were absent, since the cook was among the sickest and so was the mess.Some of the crew began to pick at odds and ends about the galley.

Submarine Nautilus Being Towed Into Port at Cork

BATTERIES of the craft, disabled in the 17-day voyage across the Atlantic, were recharged there and other repairs made for the trip, now in progress, across the Irish Channel to Devonport, England, where engines and motors will be put in shape for the journey to the North Pole, by way of Bergen, Norway.

tion work still fatted beneath them. Thick grease coated all the framework. The filthy condition of the room should have been remedied before putting to sea.Repairing of Motors.
Two or three of the stouter men stayed with me most of the night, swabbing the pole pieces, arma-tures, and commutators. Tests were made for short circuits and we found a dead one. In the control box some part had been removed and carelessly left lying so that when the shop rolled it locked beneath an important working part.With this and the filth, it is no wonder we had no motors when we tried to take the tow-line aboard. This carelessness has caused us several days' delay and may let us in for other trouble.In the early hours of the morning, many of the crew began to show signs of illness. Sailors began at sea become seasick. I and the others who had worked six hours in the stale air had some excuse, but many others were also, suffering stomach trouble.To make matters worse, we were now in a storm area and the Nautilus was battered down. The air in every room was frightful. Men sprawled about and groaned. It was not from seasickness we suffered; it was more like poisoning.We suffered from the foul air undoubtedly more than we shall ever do in the Arctic.Conditions became at last so unbearable that Jack Lundbeck and some others of us turned again to the port motor, hoping that if we could get that in order we could start the good port engine and clear the atmosphere.The stench in the motor room was even worse than the night before.Finally the electricians jammed home the switch. The port motor sparked and spluttered, blue flames
girdled the compartment, and its armature, striking the pole pieces,
sent showers of red sparks through
the motor room. But the motor
ran, the engine gathered speed.
The fuel, under high compression,

KIDNAPERS' VICTIM RETURNS

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 25.—Samuel Levin, former oil company officer, reported kidnapped last Saturday, walked into his hotel early today with his wife who, police said, had obtained his release.

Neither Levin nor his wife would discuss the case. Levin's attorney denied $5000 ransom had been paid.

WOMAN HELPS ROBBER GET $275 AT GROCERY

She Loots Cash Register While Man Takes $50 From Proprietor's Pocket.

Herbert Meyer, grocer at 3700 Salena street, a customer and four small children were held up last night by a man with a sawed-off shotgun accompanied by a blonde bobbed-haired young woman who assisted him.

The occupants of the store were forced into a rear room where the robber took $50 from Meyer's pocket while his girl companion obtained $225 from a cash register. When the children began to cry, the robber reassured them and gave each of them 25 cents to buy candy. The robbers fled in an automobile in which another man waited.

Mrs. Agnes Dreyer, 2607 Gravois avenue, an insurance agent, reported she was robbed of three diamond rings valued at $450 Tuesday when two men, representing themselves as being interested in obtaining policies, induced her to enter an automobile at Chouteau and Missouri avenues and drove her to Horse Shoe Lake in Madison County, Illinois, where they put her out of the machine.

Emil Kammer, 2003 Allen avenue, driver of a milk wagon, was held up for $20 in the 3800 block of McCausland avenue. Other holdups: Filling station, Forest Park and Vandeventer avenues, $15 taken; restaurant of Mon Hing, 2731 Chouteau avenue, $14; Robert Sullivan, 4009 Olive street, $2; Henry Von Rohr, 4028 Quincy street, $1.80.

Increases of all existing freight rates and charges with such adjustments in the case of coal, coke and certain other commodities as will preserve existing differentials.

"It is not proposed to make any specific exceptions on any commodities," read the resolution, "and the carriers are prepared to make increases of the measure proposed in all existing rates on grain and grain products, cotton, other agricultural and horticultural products, including livestock, non-ferrous metals, iron and steel products, petroleum and its products, lumber and automobiles and in all existing class rates."

In reply to specific questions of the commission, the carriers stated that it was proposed to increase by 15 per cent all international rates and charges, and that the application for the increase was tendered "with the concurrence of the water lines participating in rail and water rates."

"Experience has shown," said the resolution, "that where any general change in the entire rate structure of the country is authorized and becomes effective, it has subsequently been found to be necessary to make changes and readjustments, in some instances reductions to meet competition and other situations."

"Such changes, where found necessary, will be made as promptly as possible after the proposed increased rates, if approved by the commission, become effective."

Referring to the original petition for the rate increase, filed June 17, the carriers said they were

"confronted with an emergency threatening serious impairment of their financial resources and their capacity to assure the public a continuance of efficient and adequate service."

"In emergencies of this character," said the resolution, "previous experience has shown that there is but one method which has been adopted or as a practical matter could be adopted, either by the carriers or the commission, to afford the necessary relief, namely,

a percentage method."

The resolution was an answer to the commission's order of June 19, in which the roads were instructed to file within 15 days a statement giving added information on the petition.

Consider your Adam's Apple!! Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Touch your Adam's Apple with your finger. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords.

When a lawyer makes a statement before a jury he backs it up with sound evidence and facts. Here are the facts:

Certain harsh irritants, present in all raw tobaccos—which are expelled by LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—are sold by us to manufacturers of chemical compounds. In other words, the removal of these irritants in the manufacture of LUCKY STRIKE is not a mere laboratory procedure for the purpose of getting an advertising phrase—it is a definite and vitally important process in rendering LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes less irritating than other cigarettes. Remember—LUCKY STRIKE comes to you after certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos have been expelled through the exclusive "TOASTING" Process. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.

TOW FROM CORK

ton's offer to tow us to the Cobh lightship.

Fresh Bread Welcome.

With the boat from the battleship had come fresh bread and apples and some fresh water. There was still water aboard, but it was not very drinkable. Curiously, it is fresh bread one hankers for when deprived of normal diet for any length of time. Lost after last disappeared with fresh apples and ham. Our spirits began to rise.

By Sunday the majority of the crew began to feel spry again.
While being towed, we cleaned up the mess that had accumulated.
The ship began once more to be lively, but there was much to be done aboard before it would be ready for the Arctic. Thus we arrived in Cork harbor on Monday.

After our starboard engine has been repaired, our rotors tuned and the ship given a thorough cleaning, we will be ready for Bergen, Norway, and a final fitting before pushing farther north and then to the pole.

The trip so far has been strenuous, but nothing that happened on this voyage has a bearing on what the ship can do under the ice. Our difficulties have been mechanical—an engine cylinder cracked and an armature became saturated with moisture. We believe the Nautilus will serve our purpose.

Capt. Sloan Danenhower, our skipper, and his crew have been untiring in efforts to fight on under adverse and unusual conditions.

We are grateful to Rear Admiral C. C. Bloch, Capt. Dutton of the Wyoming and the United States naval service for their constant care and aid.

My thanks are freely given to the men on board the Nautilus, who have behaved splendidly, nor are we forgetting the hospitable hand held out to us by Ireland. In the waters of the River Shannon our men and ship have gained new life.

WOULD KILL LINDELL BOTTLENECK REPEAL

Aldermanic Committee Recommends That Bill Halting Widening Project Be Filed.

The Streets Committee of the Board of Aldermen yesterday voted to recommend that a bill for repeal of the Lindeil bottleneck widening ordinance be filed.

Alderman Wimer of the Twenty-seventh Ward, author of the bill, appeared before the committee to urge a favorable recommendation on the ground that awards of a condemnation commission were excessive and that the improvement was being held up by property owners who demanded exorbitant damages.

Alderman Wimer said repeal of the ordinance would bring these property owners to accept reasonable terms and that the present congestion could be relieved in the meantime by taking three feet from the sidewalk on either side and by prohibiting parking.

Chief among the opponents of the repeal bill was Circuit Judge Robert W. Hall, who appointed the last condemnation commission and who is hearing the city's exceptions to its findings. He said that further delay meant increased cost to the city and an injustice to property owners who now are unable to improve their premises.

Judge Hall related that Bernard F. Dickmann, president of the Real Estate Exchange, had told him of a client who was losing $6000 a year due to the delay. Wimer replied that Dickmann had urged him to introduce the repeal bill.

The committee approved ordinances appropriating $17,119 for a 27-foot asphalt paving of Kingshighway Northwest from West Florentine avenue to the proposed Halls Ferry traffic circle and $76,000 for the paving with asphalt of Washington boulevard between Jefferson avenue and the cutoff just east of Grand boulevard. Both appropriations are from bond issue funds. In addition, property owners benefited would pay $154,071 on the Kingshighway Northwest project.

MRS. FREDERICK S. ROTH LEAVES $490,000 ESTATE

The estate of Mrs. Frederick S. Roth, who died March 22 at her home, 6400 Ellsworth avenue, Clayton, is valued at $490,550 in an inventory filed in Probate Court at Clayton today. She was the widow of a former treasurer of the Shumate Cutlery Co., who died four years ago, and a daughter of the late Benjamin Elsmann, vice president of the Rice-Schick Dry Goods Co.

Mrs. Roth's sons, Frederick S. Jr., 20 years old, and Benjamin, 14, are beneficiaries under her will which creates trust funds of $60,000 for each from which they are to receive the income and a trust of the residue which is to be paid to them in installments completed by the time they are 30 years old. The principal of the $60,000 trust funds is to go to their heirs at their deaths.

The estate includes: Stocks, $158,465; bonds, $275,500; trust certificates, $7000; cash, $49,350; chattels, $3235. In addition, the estate includes land in Missouri and Arkansas not valued.

CANCER EXPERT GIVES ADVICE ON PREVENTION

Johns Hopkins Specialist Emphasizes Cleanliness and Light Clothing.

Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, clinical professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, introduced by Dr. Vilray P. Blair at the Medical Society last night as "the most widely known man in American medicine today," delivered the following maxims in an address on cancer:

Beautiful women almost never get cancer of the skin.

The fewer clothes, the less cancer.

The vanity of women smokers in caring for their teeth is an effective prevention of cancer of the mouth.

Periodic examination of the pelvic region in mothers would virtually eliminate cancer of the cervix.

Education of the public in diagnosis and control of cancer is the most effective means of reducing the percentage of hopeless cases.

General practitioners must keep pace with an enlightened public in new methods of diagnosis and treatment.

"The cure of cancer at present," Dr. Bloodgood said, "rests largely on the fact that curable cancers begin in one spot, which does not at first contain cancerous cells. In the development of the disease that spot changes, a skin blemish, a lump under the skin, or an internal pain appears. The only positive evidence of what causes the change is an injury or chronic irritation, for it is unlikely that heredity does more than induce a tendency to develop cancer."

The vanity that causes beautiful women to keep their teeth white and to care for skin blemishes, especially in parts exposed by scanty apparel, is one of the greatest aids in prevention of cancer, he continued, emphasizing the importance of cleanliness and prompt recognition of malignant changes in the skin. "The carelessness of men who smoke despite dirty or ragged teeth, he asserted, often leads to cancer of the mouth."

Pointing out that the majority of women are not protected against the internal cancer of the cervix, Dr. Bloodgood urged an examination of the pelvic region, particularly in mothers, at least annually.

"The most dangerous thing in the world is ignorance," he said, "and the day of 'ignorance bliss' is over. I am convinced that regular examinations of this sort would virtually wipe out cancer of the cervix."

"The general practitioner can do more to prevent cancer than all the surgery and radiation in the world," Dr. Bloodgood continued, "because he sees the patient first and is in a strategic position to diagnose malignancy promptly. The family doctor must change his practice so as to give the patient a thorough examination in all parts regardless of the complaint."

Dr. Bloodgood's listeners were general practitioners attending the two-weeks' course of the St. Louis Clinics, which opened June 15.

Referring to cancer of the stomach, Dr. Bloodgood said the chief reason for the failure to effect cures lay in the tendency "to use sodium bicarbonate before the X-ray in cases of 'indigestion.' Persons with a stomach-ache will go to the corner drug store for pills when they should go to their physician for an X-ray. The X-ray of primary importance because if they have almost anything but cancer, they'll get well anyhow."

He spoke also of the importance of X-ray pictures in bone injuries, not only in fractures but in bruises.

Disease Less Prevalent. Education of the public and research by the medical profession, he declared, are the most vital factors in the control and cure of cancer. Educational campaigns in the last 18 years, he said, have resulted in remarkable decreases in the incidence of cancer and the percentage of incurable cases. Citing records of Johns Hopkins clinic since 1925, he said that the percentage of hopeless cases had decreased to less than 10 per cent whereas 30 years ago more than 50 per cent of the cases were in the hopeless stage. Cures have increased from 10 to more than 60 per cent and incidence of the disease has decreased from 80 to less than 20 per cent.

The ultimate cure of cancer, he declared, depends on research which will produce new methods of treatment.

"We are working now on a super X-ray tube which we hope will develop as much power as all the radium in the world," he said. "There is no proof yet that it will do more than radium, although it is our chief hope today for the increase of cures in cancer."

SECOND RECEIVERSHIP SUIT AGAINST FRANKLIN LAMB CO.

Merchant at Christopher, Ill., Alleges Brokerage Owes Him $1800; State Investigation On.

A third receivership suit has been filed against Franklin Lamb & Co., a Kansas City brokerage concern with a branch here. The latest suit, filed yesterday in Circuit Court here, is by John S. Beggs, a merchant at Christopher, Ill. He alleges the company owes him $1800 and asserts that numerous suits against it are threatened.

State Securities Commissioner Stockard, who suspended the brokers firm's license as a dealer, has begun a hearing to determine whether it should be revoked. It was continued until July 6 so that he could examine the books, and in the meantime he has modified his order so that the company may deal in securities listed on approved exchanges.

I LOVE the smell of saddle leather, but not a cigarette. Your Humidor Pack certainly gives Camels complete protection from everything outside.

These mild tobaccos need no parching

CIGARETTES are sometimes made of rank, strong tobaccos that have been parched in an attempt to reduce their sting and bite. Camels, however, are a blend of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos that give off cool, mild smoke together with all that delightful flavor and aroma that would be lost by parching. To preserve every vestige of that flavor, the natural moisture is air-sealed-in by an outer wrapping of moisture-proof Cellophane called the Humidor Pack.

This not only keeps Camels factory-fresh, but it excludes dust and germs as well. If you are not a Camel smoker, why not switch over to this brand for one day. After you have found how delightfully mild they are, how cool to your throat, how full of flavor and aroma, then leave them — if you can.

Tune in CAMEL QUARTER HOUR featuring Morton Downey and Tony Wons Columbia Broadcasting System — every night except Sunday

CAMELS

It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton — this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office

STOCKS HAVE VIGOR AND TURN, THEN CLOSE HEAVY

Profit-Taking and Short Selling in Late Trade Cancel Most of 2 to More Than 5-Point Gains in Principal Shares—Numerous 1 to 4 Point Losses.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The stock market reached its highest point in another excited bullish demonstration today.

Extensive profit-taking and fresh bear pressure in the late trading cancelled most of an advance of 2 to more than 5 points in principal shares and at the finish there were numerous losses of 2 to 4 points. Trading slackened somewhat, and the day's turnover approximated 4,000,000 shares or $500,000,000 less than yesterday's.

Although the rapidity of the recent advance had invited a technical setback, the downturn was accompanied by excited rumors on the floor of the exchange, one to the effect that the French Cabinet had resigned. Anaconda, a strong feature early in the day, closed slightly higher. Net losses of 2 to 4 points or two appeared in several principal shares, including American General Electric, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Radio. Atchafalaya and Allied Chemical sold about 4 points. The closing tone was heavy.

Weakness of the Canadian dollar was conspicuous in the foreign exchange, where trends generally were downward. It has been rumored that considerable foreign buying has come into the New York securities market, and this would cause a flow of funds tending to depress the exchange rates. The Canadian dollar declined about 1/4 cent to a discount of 1/2 cent. European rates generally eased, including the recently supported German mark.

The weekly statement of the Reichsbank showed, as expected, a further loss of about $200,000,000 in gold, and a slump in reserve ratio to close to the legal minimum of 40 per cent, but the $100,000,000 credit advanced by the Bank of England and the New York Federal Reserve Bank, quieted uneasiness that had been felt over the meeting of the midyear credit pinch in Europe.

The insistence of France that Germany meet non-postponable payments under the Young plan, to be counterbalanced by the extension of credit, is not causing any considerable concern in Wall Street. Bankers are hopeful that Secretary Morgenthau's visit, may result in ironing out differences between Paris and Washington. Furthermore, it is pointed out that Germany might presumably make the non-postponable part of the payments by the deposit of notes with the Young plan for international settlements, through an arrangement similar to that by which the Dawes plan payments were made, pending the Young plan negotiations.

The railroad stocks gave attention to the reply to the Interstate Commerce Commission's request for further information on the proposed 15 per cent freight increase. The carriers' explanation that "it is not proposed to make any specific exceptions on any commodity in Wall Street as a move to get action without any which would be necessitated by an increase in the rate structure in all commodities at one time. If a horizontal increase in rates on specific commodities is agreed upon, articles in which there is considerable competition, could be taken up later. Although Anaconda's dividend was a pleasant surprise, there was a lack of adverse dividend news. Profit Paper & Power omitted its second preferred dividend, and International Paper & Power's 6 and 7 per cent preferred stock, and those of its subsidiary, St. Industrial Alcohol passed its common dividend.

Copper prices were put up and 7 per cent, to 8 3/4 cents a pound, making a gain of 1/2 cent. Nine-cent metal is expected this week. Lead and silver prices advanced again.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Total sales today on the New York Stock Exchange amount to 4,500,000 shares, compared with 5,100,000 yesterday, 1,148,680 a week ago, and 2,272,680 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date were 22,836,232 shares, compared with 45,810,000 a year ago and 52,682,500 two years ago.

SLAYER OF MEXICAN STUDENTS ON STAND

Says He Killed Yoths in Belief They Were Armed "Hijackers."

By the Associated Press.
ARDMORE, Ok., June 25.—W. E. Guess, former deputy sheriff, took the stand in his murder trial this afternoon to plead self-defense in the fatal shooting June 7 of two Mexican "lego students. He repeated his story that he shot the youths, Emilio Cortes Rubio, cousin of the Mexican President, and Manuel Garcia Gomez, in the belief that he faced armed "hijackers."

Cecil Crosby defended his fellow former peace officer on the stand. Crosby testified he told the youths and Salvador Cortes Rubio, their companion, that he was a Deputy Sheriff and that he wrestled a weapon from Emilio before the lad was shot to death by Guess.

Detailing events leading up to the shooting on a dark residential street here June 7 when the three Mexicans had stopped their car while driving to Mexico from St. Benedict's College at Atchison, Kan., Crosby said he and Guess had been looking for automobile thieves.

ALEMITE MOTOR OIL

TESTED, PROVED AND PERFECTED BY THE NATION'S LEADER IN SPECIALIZED LUBRICATION FOR MOTOR CARS!

There are 10 years of experiment and test back of the discovery of the Alemite Process of refining motor oils. Yet you will discover in the first 10 miles of driving why this amazing new Alemite Motor Oil—made from 100% Pure Pennsylvania Crude—is superior—safe—sure!

You will note New Power—Greater Gas Mileage. For it seals in compression and power with amazing new efficiency.

Exceptionally rich, full-bodied. Unusually "oily." Clings doggedly to motor parts with fullest protection under all conditions of service and temperature.

Full lubrication protection in intensely cold weather! No solidifying. No stiff starting. No drag to wear down batteries.

Heat Resisting! High motor temperatures, hot summer weather and high speeds will not break down its rich lubricating qualities or thin them out.

No Imbarities to cause sticky valves and stuck piston rings. Your motor will run cleaner because it minimizes carbon deposits.

The Yellow Sign here shown is your guide to genuine Alemite Motor Oil. It points the way to new motor efficiency, elimination of unnecessary motor repair bills and new motoring satisfaction. Find it, if it means an extra mile or so out of your way!

THE TEMPERATURE TESTED MOTOR OIL

His statement that he identified himself as an officer, conflicted with testimony given yesterday by Salvador Cortes Rubio, a prosecution witness.

Grosby said he did not see the actual shooting. He illustrated by slapping his hands together the three shots fired by Guess.

Crosby also is charged with the murder but Guess is being tried first.

The little, red-faced officer who with Guess has resigned pending outcome of the trial, repeated the story of driving, with Guess up to the youths' parked motor car. He told of getting out and reprimanding Salvador, standing a few feet away from his machine.

"I told them we were deputy sheriffs," he said.

When he began to question Emilio, seated in the parked car, Crosby said he looked down and Emilio had a gun in his hand. He struggled with him, he said and disarmed him. Meanwhile Gomez emerged from the car and Guess, who had been seated in the officers' machine alighted.

Guess, who claims Cortes Rubio was drawing a gun when he shot him, was to be the last defense witness.

On cross examination Crosby said Salvador "acted courteously." He waited he said, until he talked to the boys in the car to question them about themselves. They asked him "what business of mine it was." He reiterated he told them he was an officer.

The youths told him they were students, he said. The firing, he said, started "on the other side of the car just after he had disarmed Cortes Rubio. Gomez was shot first, after he had emerged from the car.

Jack Stone, a prosecution witness, told of seeing Gomez dead on the pavement and Emilio in the machine.

There was a package of cigarettes near Gomez hand, said Stone.

Other witnesses said there was a pistol near his hand.

E. M. Stackpole said he saw Guess turn a flashlight into the car where Emilio lay dead and obtain a small gun from the boy's clothing." Earl Benton, Oklahoma City, testified Guess took a pistol from Cortes Rubio's "right hand pocket."

THE MURDER OF THE CHORISTES

CHAPTER FIVE.

THREE minutes later we emerged from the gloomy tunnel under Twenty-ninth street, into the warmer but clean fresh air of the water-front and hurried toward the Commissioner's car.

"Drive up Second avenue," directed Colt, with a wave of his hand to the patient Neil McMahon. "And take it easy."

"What are we looking for now?" I ventured to ask as the car turned and shot up westward toward the avenue.

"I am looking for a tree," confided Colt with a chuckle. He tapped his breast-pocket.

"A leaf fell from a tree into the boat," he explained. "As I told you, it is my belief that these murders were committed on shore, the bodies put into the boat, then the boat launched and shoved out into the tide. We must find the spot where all that was done. And our only clue is the leaf."

"Do you expect to find the tree growing along the East Side water front?" I asked banteringly.

"Yes," replied Thatcher Colt, and relapsed into a reproachful silence. After a while I tried again.

"Chief?"

"Well, Tony?"

"I don't want to seem more stupid than usual."

"But," he chuckled.

"Why do you search the East Side of Manhattan for this mysterious tree? Why couldn't it just as well have been over on the Long Island side—or Blackwell's—or way up off the Bronx?"

"Again, nothing but observation and guesswork, Tony. I may be wrong. But I am inclined to believe that it happened in Manhattan. You see, the East River current is very swift around the Hell Gate rocks. If the boat had come through that swirling current, it would have been battered somewhat, or at least the bodies shaken up. You see how peacefully undisturbed they lay—not even a break in her necklaces of beads. Of course, there is one exception—namely, the necklace that wasn't found in the boat. No, they had a quiet journey. Hence, I think it happened farther down. They could hardly have been launched from Welfare Island because that is like one huge park, and too well guarded. As for Long Island, the direction of the current is such at this hour that no floating object would be likely to be carried from that shore toward Manhattan, where the boat was actually encountered—the force of the water would be all against it. Now, Tony, any of these conclusions may prove ill founded. That has happened to me before. But I am eager to get to the actual scene of the crime as soon as possible—before valuable evidence is lost or taken away. This is a long shot—but it's the best I've got."

"BUT why," I persisted, "do you assume the crime occurred on the edge of the river?"

"Obviously, because the boat was used to get the victims away from the scene. Now either the boat was already in the water, which I doubt, because it might be noticed and later be identified by a witness, or else it was kept concealed close to the river's edge. It would have to be close, because of the limited space anywhere in New York—and because one couldn't drag two bodies and a boat a long distance without the almost certain risk of encountering a patrol boat."

"Thanks, chief. I'm still in the dark," I replied, and I heard his characteristic chuckle. To me his behavior still seemed unrealistic and extravagant.

Perhaps my suspicions were impertinent, yet where could Colt expect to find one special tree among the thousands along the East Side? From the battery to the Bronx the river-front is toothed with wharves and docks and factories, but with occasional breaks of green fronted by the public parks and new real estate community developments. But to me the public parks offered no hope of solution. During the current heat-spell, Colt had given me permission for tenement dwellers to sleep in the grass, with extra details of policemen assigned to protect the masses slumbering out of doors. It was unthinkable that the preacher and Evelyn—as the woman was called in the love notes—could have been murdered in a public park without arousing an alarm. To launch a boat laden with two inanimate bodies from the water's edge of a park on a night like this was outside the realm of possibility.

"Stop here!" called Colt suddenly, and we left the car. We had arrived at Second avenue and Forty-second street. Two blocks to our left was Pershing Square, with its ramp; its pompous hotels, with their windows, golden-lighted; the vast shamble of Grand Central Station; and far to the west, the intense electric glow of Times Square. Between where we stood and the river was a geometrical group of apartment houses, trimmed with lawns and trees, green boxes, and with railings that bordered the water—a colony called Tudor City, of which real estate trowers sing their most plaintive ballads. It was opposite this restricted residential section that Thatcher Colt and his girl friend had found the row-boat.

SLOWLY Colt walked down to the river. There is, at this point, a tunnel going under the street, falling steeply to a dock at the brink of the water. It is dark and lonely there, especially at this late hour; many hold-ups had been reported in this vicinity.

Out on the dock walked Colt. Turning, with his back to the street, he looked thoughtfully north and south.

pany, principally in Rochester and the die was cast. Thereafter, he would be an actor.

Young Montgomery put in five years on Broadway, his biggest hit being in Edgar Selwyn's "Possession." Work in this got him a chance to play opposite Vilma Banerly in "So This is College." But Robert feared the silent pictures were not for him and got out of the contract. Yet when the "talkies" arrived, he took his cue and plunged in. His first work with M-G-M was "So This is College." He thought he could "make a better showing in college than in heaven," so he said. After that, his stock boomed and now he is a star in his own right with the biggest company in Hollywood.

And what an institution he has become! Filled with the zest of life, his smile is effervescent, his mind fairly scintillating. He isn't the annoying "wise-cracker" that William Haines on the same lot is, yet his humor is spontaneous. When I went to interview him he was on a stage posing for publicity pictures. Our conversation went something like this:

"Which is about half the truth. No one has so quickly been promoted to stardom. No one has so suddenly and fully filled a niche since the day of the late Rudolph Valentino. Montgomery did put in a whole year as a deck hand on an oil tanker. But it was Irving Thalberg, an executive, who always gets good stories, had him in three, including "The Divorcee" in which Montgomery was nearer himself than in any. Then he made "The Big House" with Wallace Beery and finally the New York Rubber company, who died eight or nine years ago, supposedly leaving a fortune. But the fortune was found to be represented principally by ciphers with no numeral in front. The principal assets of his estate were Robert and one brother and the widow, Mary Montgomery. Robert, one of the sons, had spent four years at the Pawling School in Pawling, N. Y., and had traveled in England, France, Switzerland and Germany.

But Father, Montgomery died when Robert was 16 years of age, and the young son decided it was time for him to go to work. His first job was as a mechanic's helper on a railroad. This was followed by a journey on the Standard Oil tanker. On his return to New York, he roomed with Steve Janney, a boy in the show business, an ambitious would-be playwright, now dead. Janney got Robert a chance to do seven bits in a Faversham show, "Mask in the Face," for $5 a bit, or $35 a week. Then Robert did 73 weeks with a stock company, principally in Rochester and the die was cast. Thereafter, he would be an actor.

But Father, Montgomery died when Robert was 16 years of age, and the young son decided it was time for him to go to work. His first job was as a mechanic's helper on a railroad. This was followed by a journey on the Standard Oil tanker. On his return to New York, he roomed with Steve Janney, a boy in the show business, an ambitious would-be playwright, now dead. Janney got Robert a chance to do seven bits in a Faversham show, "Mask in the Face," for $5 a bit, or $35 a week. Then Robert did 73 weeks with a stock company, principally in Rochester and the die was cast. Thereafter, he would be an actor.

Young Montgomery put in five years on Broadway, his biggest hit being in Edgar Selwyn's "Possession." Work in this got him a chance to play opposite Vilma Banerly in "So This is College." But Robert feared the silent pictures were not for him and got out of the contract. Yet when the "talkies" arrived, he took his cue and plunged in. His first work with M-G-M was "So This is College." He thought he could "make a better showing in college than in heaven," so he said. After that, his stock boomed and now he is a star in his own right with the biggest company in Hollywood.

And what an institution he has become! Filled with the zest of life, his smile is effervescent, his mind fairly scintillating. He isn't the annoying "wise-cracker" that William Haines on the same lot is, yet his humor is spontaneous. When I went to interview him he was on a stage posing for publicity pictures. Our conversation went something like this:

"Which is about half the truth. No one has so quickly been promoted to stardom. No one has so suddenly and fully filled a niche since the day of the late Rudolph Valentino. Montgomery did put in a whole year as a deck hand on an oil tanker. But it was Irving Thalberg, an executive, who always gets good stories, had him in three, including "The Divorcee" in which Montgomery was nearer himself than in any. Then he made "The Big House" with Wallace Beery and finally the New York Rubber company, who died eight or nine years ago, supposedly leaving a fortune. But the fortune was found to be represented principally by ciphers with no numeral in front. The principal assets of his estate were Robert and one brother and the widow, Mary Montgomery. Robert, one of the sons, had spent four years at the Pawling School in Pawling, N. Y., and had traveled in England, France, Switzerland and Germany.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

Pocket Mice Homes

JOHN and Peggy followed the mice to see their homes. The Clock had left them here for a little while.

The pocket mice had homes of small burrows with a number of door-ways or holes. These led through passages to a main room in bed the family nest was made and the food stored away.

They allowed the children to look inside, although usually if anyone was seen looking into one of their homes they moved some dirt so as to cover up the hole.

Inside the nest John and Peggy saw six cunning little baby mice. "When it is cold," said one of the mice, "we stay at home and keep warm, but we do not sleep through the winter, as many animals do."

"And throughout the spring and summer we welcome the little baby mice that arrive."

"We are showing you our homes during the daytime, but we really like the night time best. No mother mouse ever tenses a baby mouse that it is dark and that he must be in bed. Oh, I hear one squealing to her children now. Listen!"

They heard a mother mouse say, in her squealing voice:

"Now you've sat up long enough. Mercy mouse me, why, it's broad daylight, and you're all wide-awake."

But before they went to sleep they had a most delicious meal of wild morning-glory seeds. At least from the pocket mouse point of view it was a most delicious meal. And for dessert they had some sunflower seeds.

Peggy and John were leaving now, and as they left the Pocket Mice all stood around and squealed: "Goodbye, come again. Give our mouse love to all at home."

Suet pudding will be just as tasty and quite as wholesome if, instead of the more expensive suet, half the quantity used is made up of clean beef or lamb drippings and the remainder in suet.

If you ask for OPINION

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: Is it a breach of etiquette to have a several young married women as bridesmaids? My sister says it is improper. After having once worn a veil, would it be improper to wear a veil again for the next wedding? It is still the custom to throw the bouquet, and should the young married woman politely dodge it or should she try to catch it?

It is perfectly suitable and good form for young matrons to act as bridesmaids. But it is not customary for a widow to have more than one bridesmaid and better form still to have none. A second wedding to be in good taste should be, and generally is, quiet in character, no matter how large the invitation list. She is generally married in chapel or at home, wears an afternoon dress and hat and there is no procession, as the ushers alone, would not make a very impressive one. These she must have, of course, to seat the guests.

There is clean any shoe. D E A R M R S. C A R R: When I go to parties I can't get courage to talk. If a boy talks to me, I just keep swallowing all the time. And sometimes when I would like to say certain things, it just won't come out of my mouth.

PERSONALITY MINUS: If the presence of boys makes you dumb, why don't you try out your conversational powers on the girls? Try to have something, ever, matter, to make audible. "Small talk" is the only practice, by being observant of details (though not personal), and being really interested in the person you are talking to rather than in yourself. "Personality" is part looks and part responsiveness.

D E A R M R S. C A R R: I lived in a town and know the ways of town people. Now I live on a farm and have fallen in love with a farm boy, but he doesn't know some of the customs of the city. For instance, in the country you always walk at my right side. Whereas in town he should always take the outside. It embarrasses me and yet I don't want to hurt his feelings and I am shy about telling him. Shall I have some friend tell him in some roundabout way?

When a girl and boy meet, which should speak first? It is all right to let the boy buy your swimming ticket or should you buy it yourself?

A GIRL FRIEND: The question could be brought about by a friend, perhaps in the discussion of good usage in little things. Of course, there is usually a reason for these forms: this one being that a man put himself in the position of protector when he takes the outside of the walk; not because you expect an automobile to become intoxicated and veer across the curb or a wild animal to escape from the zoo, or various other things that might be a real danger, but just a delicate manner of showing that, in an emergency, you are on the safer side. Perhaps when you start out you could just quietly take the inside without speaking of it.

2—Good form says that the girl must speak first. But if you know the man well, neither you nor he thinks much about that. Both generally would speak as soon as you see each other.

3—If the boy has invited you to go swimming, don't oblige him by offering to pay for your ticket. That would be a breach of good manners.

D E A R M R S. C A R R: A boy I know and I were friends, but for about six months we have seen little of each other. He became quite cool toward me, though we have danced together. Without consulting me he took a picture of me (I told him I didn't want him to have it) while we were good friends. I feel that he should have returned under the circumstances and that I have waited long enough. Wouldn't it be all right to ask him for it?

DIMPLES: I should ask the young man for the picture if I wanted it. Perhaps you can tell him some particular reason—as you say because it is the only one you have with long hair—then he cannot regard it as anything personal and have all excuse to be disagreeable about it.

D E A R M R S. C A R R: We are two ultra modern girls who are practically disgusted with those fellows who insist upon wearing shots—these poor fellows who think we are overjoyed to be dated by them. They believe they are doing us a favor if they show up for the date. Then the evening is spent in a tiresome chatter about their cars, dates, good times, etc.

Oh, yes, boys, this goes over big with us; it soaks in like water in a sponge!

The "big shot" will always arrive 45 minutes to an hour late. Yes! He surely is a big, busy man! Of course, a girl enjoys making a fool out of him. She feeds him alone and laughs silently. These fellows who have the "I" trouble—"I do this" and "I do that," the "I-love-me" kind—think they must be what they call independent with the girls in order to go over big. Won't they ever outgrow this school?

WE SEE THEM: Someone should page "Disgusted Harry," who seems to think that only girls "talk shop." What a good many of these boys and girls.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: I am almost 17 and have been going with a very nice girl for over a year. I have known her all ways. We no doubt love each other, but do not intend to marry until I have made a place for myself so that I can support a home in the right way. Some of my friends think I should go with others, too. My parents say she is not in my "class," but I think this very foolish.

"Mrs. Carr, what do you think—that I should go with others (if I do this it will make her angry), thus taking the chance of losing her or go only with the girl I love?"

You are both too young, especially if, as you say, you will not marry until you are suitably settled, to exclude other companions. If the girl only had judgment enough to realize it, she would know that being monopolized in this way is a little harder on her than on you.

Most women believe in having several friends if they do not intend to marry soon. Couldn't you talk it out with her, and say, diplomatically, that you are afraid she might tire of you if she doesn't see others and go out some with them? Tell her that you have enough confidence in her loyalty and your own not to believe that you could be separated and that you think your mutual love of a very poor quality if it cannot stand that test.

...when your body is weary and your spirit needs reviving—quick!

THIS pure wholesome juice of sun-ripened Concord grapes does far more than serve as a natural refrigerant. It also affords benefits so far-reaching that here surely is one of Nature's most generous gifts to man.

Abounding in mineral salts, neutralizing acids and fruit proteins, so invaluable to vigor, Welch's ends exhaustion with an almost magic quickness... replaces burned-up energy without adding a single undesired ounce to one's weight.

Incidentally, what Welch's does for grown-ups it does in even greater measure for children. It builds strong teeth and makes rich blood.

The next time you are just plain fagged, open a new test-size Junior bottle of Welch's and "drink a bunch of grapes." You will probably want to add one-third to one-half water, for this delightful beverage is concentrated goodness. That is why it costs less than any other form of fruit.

Whether for between-meal hunger or as a beverage, Welch's is an essential in the modern home. Serve it every day throughout the year, especially for breakfast. Thus you will protect yourself and family with the most convenient form of health insurance.

Be sure to ask for Welch's by name. Only thus can you be sure of pure pasteurized fruit juice bottled under rigid laboratory control.

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts. Edited by Dr. Iago Goldston, for the New York Academy of Medicine.

Treating Hypertension

EVERY case of hypertension, or high blood pressure, as it is often called, should be under competent medical treatment. Treatment, be it medical, dietetic or hygienic, must be prescribed individually for each case, on the basis of a careful study, for one man's remedy may be another man's ruin.

There are, however, a number of general points of hygiene by which all those who suffer from no matter what type of high blood pressure may benefit.

First among these hygienic rules comes the mental attitude of the patient.

Worry has never been known to benefit or cure a case of hypertension.

On the contrary, it is more likely to raise the blood pressure.

Heywood Brown, the columnist, reports that one doctor told him his blood pressure was too low.

He immediately went across town to another physician, who found his blood pressure a little too high. Worry did that!

High blood pressure does not promote, but it is not incompatible with long life.

Rest, in full measure, is of great value in hypertension. While in severe conditions a week's rest or more in bed may be required, the average hypertension patient may secure added rest by merely avoiding undue physical exertion.

In other words, he may profit by merely taking things easy.

On the other hand, a certain amount of exercise is also good for the hypertension patient.

Thus it is best for him to keep active, but not to the point of fatigue.

A special diet is required in certain types of high blood pressure.

Such diets must be fitted to the individual needs of the patient and should be secured from the attending physician.

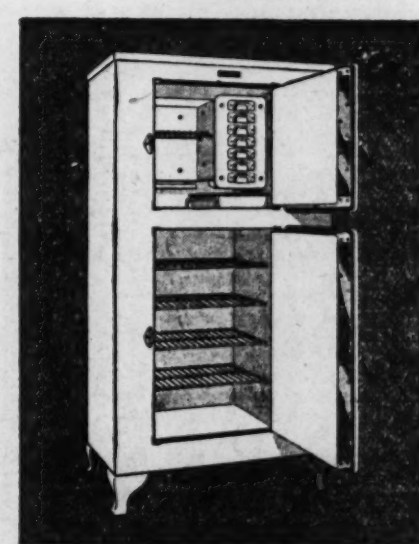

Stimulants such as alcohol and tobacco should be avoided or used in extreme moderation.

Avoid the fowl if there is the slightest touch of green on the flesh.

DURING HOT WEATHER YOU NEED GOOD REFRIGERATION Buy ELECTROLUX Now and SAVE $20

DURING hot weather you realize what an advantage gas refrigeration is. It protects your foods against spoilage, provides plenty of ice cubes for cool, refreshing drinks and it frees you from hot hours in the kitchen by enabling you to prepare and serve fresh, nourishing summer foods.

For the next 4 days you can save $20 on Electrolux by taking advantage of the double duty dollar plan. During this thrift sale a down payment up to $20 gives you double credit. For instance, suppose you wanted to buy the "Hostess" model, which is so popular in St. Louis. The price of this model is $275. You make a down payment of $20 and get an extra credit of $20. The balance can be paid in 24 months. Get your Electrolux now so that you can enjoy its benefits all summer—and for many future years. Be thrifty and buy now while you can save $20. Sale ends June 30.

Electrolux is the gas refrigerator that all St. Louis is talking about. It operates without a single moving part. Makes no noise, never needs repairs nor requires servicing because there is nothing to get out of order. The beautiful Electrolux cabinet embodies all the latest improvements such as special insulation equal to 5 feet of brick, ribbon type shelves, beveled corners and chromium metal. The refrigerating apparatus is sealed in an air tight one-piece unit. Electrolux is operated by a tiny gas flame and a trickle of water which makes the operating cost low—approximately 5c a day.

IN THE MIDST OF $40,000 SWINDLE

Viktor Lustig Picked Up

Money to Buy $80,000 in Fake Liberty Bonds.

RISONER TELLS HOW HE WORKS

Operates Alone Except for
"Steerer," Who Gets 25 Per Cent—Retains His Swagger in Jail.

"Count" Viktor Lustig, internationally notorious confidence man, whose meticulous dress, foreign accent and claim to nobility make up a stock in trade, was arrested at night in a suite at the Coronado Hotel as he was preparing, so it is charged, to cheat a wealthy Kansas City business man out of $40,000 in a counterfeit Liberty Bond swindle.

Just a few hours before Detective Sergeant Chiff and Mitchell arrested the "Count" down to Headquarters "to see the Chief," the intended victim had left the hotel with the understanding that he was to return with $40,000 to buy $80,000 worth of counterfeit Liberty Bonds which the swindler had promised to sell him.

Still Retains His Swagger. The "Count," who has been known to masquerade under the impressive name of "Gruber" and other aliases, was a trifle disheveled this morning after a night on the boards, but his stay in a cell did not hurt his air of supreme confidence or detracted from the stately swagger of his speech.

"I work alone," he told Chief of Detectives Kaiser, in careful English laced with a foreign accent. "I need is what you call a gangster—a man to introduce me to the profits, but I do the work myself."

"Well, how about this Kansas City deal?" Chief Kaiser asked. "Of course, you're interested in the 'C-count' swindle, run by a finger across his small black tache. 'The gentleman I hoped swindle was named 'Grace.' I don't know his initials or his occupation, but I am satisfied he is a worthy."

What He Told Victim. "After I had met him through 'steerer,' I won his confidence and friendship. That is the first step in a successful swindle, you know. I told him I had developed an exclusive process for counterfeiting Liberty bonds."

"To abridge quite a long story, I gave him two Liberty bonds, one $50 and the other for $100, as samples and told him to show them to any Government expert. Of course, you've guessed it—they're genuine bonds that I'd secured up a little with soap and water."

"He was convinced they were first-class imitations. I told him to meet me at the Coronado yesterday to complete the deal. He came in and was to return with a money bag. A few hours later—my money!—two of your detectives came in and ruined my preparations. Now, I regret to say, I am out $150 worth of Liberty bonds with nothing to show for my work."

"In the future, gentlemen, I shall confine my swindles to bootleggers. I don't dare to go into court justly. For instance, I am now in Liberty under $15,000 bond for handling a bootlegger out of $37,000. In Boston, I shall never be arrested. He is going back to jail and will not appear in court."
